WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress was cleared Friday by the Senate for a final adjournment, but it remains highly doubtful that it will adjourn tonight as most legislators expect.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield told news- men a miracle if the session didn't run into next morning.

He said they had not finished up to-

No Pledge to Ban Boost in Steel Prices

Opponents insisted this program should not be continued without more protections for American migrant workers and without pro-

Companies Reply to President's Plea Against Increases

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—Major U.S. steel producers have given President Kennedy a unanimous "no" to his request for a pledge to hold the steel price line.

They didn't say they would boost prices, but most disputed his contention that they could absorb a coming increase in wage payments and still record ample profits.

The Cape Cod White House Friday released replies of seven companies to the President's letter of Sept. 6 to a dozen leading manufacturers.

The other five—U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Jones and Laughlin, Republic and Colorado Fuel and Iron—previously responded.

Sweden to Strengthen U.N. Force in Congo

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Sweden will strengthen its 1,360-man U.N. force in the Congo with a mortar platoon and more weapons and ammunition, the Foreign Ministry announced Friday night.

This is in addition to four Saab J29 jet fighters and a 35-man air force unit announced earlier.

Sweden also will send four Air Force Base in California for transport planes and additional processing before reporting to the Foreign Ministry said.

Shift Seen But Nikita Holding Key

NEW YORK (AP)—Officials said today that United States policy on Berlin and the future of Germany stands unchanged, but evidence increased that some kind of new and more elastic approach to a settlement of the Berlin crisis may be developing.

The key to the situation seems to lie in the next moves to be made by Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

If he indicates to the Western powers that he is ready to agree to a compromise way out of the war-threatening dispute, he seems likely to find the West willing to consider a number of changes. If he tries to dictate the terms of settlement, however, the West position will undoubtedly be hardened.

Must Face Facts

News dispatches from Berlin Friday night said American officials are telling West German authorities that Communist East Germany is a fact of life and that the West Germans must face up to it. The dispatches spoke of discussion of the possibility of letting the Communist regime share some power over access to West Berlin.

The import of the Berlin dispatches is that the United States, at least informally, is advising the West German government to consider dealing with the reality of an East German state. That would mark a radical change in West Germany's long-standing policy and introduce a new element into over-all Allied policy.

Inaccurate Reports

In a statement issued in Washington and New York the State Department characterized reports on this subject from Germany as highly inaccurate. The statement did specify which reports or what details it considered inaccurate. It did say that President Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk have defined U.S. policy on Germany and Berlin.

Privately officials said U.S. policy on Germany has not changed, but no one has said it would never change. It is in this connection that the problem of sounding out Moscow on possible

Policeman Guards Mace All Night After House Recesses

WASHINGTON (AP)—Because the House resorted to the unusual practice of recessing instead of adjourning until 10 a.m. today, a Capitol policeman kept a lonely vigil all night in the House Chamber.

He was guarding the mace, a silver and ebony device that is the official symbol of the authority of the House. It must be displayed in the House chamber except when the House actually is in adjournment. A Deputy Sergeant-at-Arms always sits by to guard it.

Zeake W. Johnson Jr., Sergeant-at-Arms, deputized a member of the night police force to watch over the mace. The guard was relieved later in the night by one of the early shift patrolmen.

When the House is not in session, the mace is locked in a vault in Johnson's office. It is escorted daily—except during recess periods—to and from the House chamber by a special deputy.

Nuclear Tests Arouse Anger Against Reds

Wide Criticism
After Russians
Resume Blasts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union's resumption of nuclear tests after a 3-year halt has given the Soviets their worst propaganda setback since Red tanks crushed the 1956 Hungarian revolt, the U.S. Information Agency reports.

The Soviets went testing in the atmosphere Friday, firing their 15th explosion since Sept. 1.

No Cheers for U. S.

While the new tests have directed world-wide criticism at the Kremlin, there has been no balancing rise in pro-American sentiment abroad, Asians and Near Easterners said, in effect. "A plague on both your houses."

This assessment of international feelings was issued Friday by the USIA following a study of overseas press and radio commentaries.

The United States reopened its tests soon after the Soviets. But unlike the Soviet Union, the United States triggered its explosions underground so as not to contaminate their air with fallout.

The Soviet blast Friday was fired in the atmosphere in the vicinity of its arctic testing site, Novaya Zemlya, and had a yield on the order of one megaton, equivalent to one million tons of TNT.

There has been published speculation that the Soviet's current series of blasts—including six in the megaton range—may have deposited more radioactive debris in the atmosphere and stratosphere than its 1958 series did. The 1958 Soviet tests are generally rated as the dirtiest in terms of fallout on record.

But unofficial U.S. sources said there is no way for the public to tell now whether the present Soviet explosions are the dirtiest so far.

Scientists who declined to be identified said the only persons who could possibly make such an appraisal are the weapons experts of the Atomic Energy Commission and the Defense Department. Both agencies declined any comment.

The government took steps to protect the public's health from potential radiation hazards, natural and man-made.

Through the White House, the

Korean Troops To Return Home

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—Nearly 1,000 handpicked American soldiers in Korea will begin leaving for the United States early next month to fill pressing needs in the new U.S. defense build-up program, the U.S. Army here said today.

Col. J. J. Hamlin, adjutant general, 8th U.S. Army, said troops of all grades and job specialties will go to training centers and key installations in the continental United States.

Approximately 600 men will fly directly to their next assignments distributed between Fort Carson, Colo., Fort Knox, Ky., Fort Riley, Kansas, and Fort Gordon, Ga. His nomination will pass, is headed by Sen. James Eastland, D-Miss., an outspoken foe of the integration cause which Marshall has promoted in and out of courts.

Marshall's nomination, if not acted upon before Congress quits for the year, will still stand at the start of the 1962 session.

Negro May be Named Judge Kennedy Expected To Send Nomination To Congress Today

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—President Kennedy reportedly will send an adjourning Senate today the nomination of Thurgood Marshall, lawyer mastermind of Negro integration strategy, as a federal appellate judge.

Marshall, longtime counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, would be the second Negro appointed to a federal Circuit Court of Appeals.

The first was Judge William Hastie, who now sits on the appellate bench in Philadelphia.

Reliable sources confirmed a report originating 10 days ago that Kennedy had settled on Marshall for one of the new vacancies in the 2nd Circuit, which centers New York.

Some opposition to Marshall appears certain. The Senate Judiciary Committee, through which Kennedy's nomination will pass, is headed by Sen. James Eastland, D-Miss., an outspoken foe of the integration cause which Marshall has promoted in and out of courts.

Marshall's nomination, if not acted upon before Congress quits for the year, will still stand at the start of the 1962 session.

Marion Davies

(as a husband actor) Arthur Lake

Miss Davies educated in a New York convent reached movie stardom via the Ziegfeld Follies and the promotion of the late publisher, William Randolph Hearst.

Her movie success brought her a $4 million beach home, a leading role in Hollywood social life and a fortune estimated at several millions.

She retired from films in 1937 to launch a second career — this one of giving wounded war veterans and needy college students alike received her aid.

$1.5 Million Gift

In 1948 Miss Davies donated $1.5 million to the UCLA Medical Center for construction of the Marion Davies Children's Wing.

The blue-eyed blonde was born Marion Cecilia Douras on Jan. 1, 1897, the daughter of a New York judge. She left school to join the Follies and to model for such noted illustrators as Howard Chandler Christy and Harrison Fisher.

She was only 19 when she appeared in her first movie, "Runaway Romany."

Loan to Hearst

In the early 20s Hearst guided her rise to movieland's peak through his International Films Co. She became his confidante for 32 years until his death in 1951.

Hearst said she saved him from financial ruin with a $1 million loan during the depression. He called her his loyal friend in his will.

As the millions poured in, Miss Davies decided in 1926 to build a Santa Monica beach home. It became the Versailles of Hollywood — a cluster of colonial buildings with 50 bathrooms, 37 fireplaces and a staff of 32.

She lived there for 15 years, serving intimate dinner for 50, extravagant cocktail parties and courtship banquets for the cream of Hollywood society.

Miss Davies appeared in 42 movies after "Runaway Romany." "When Knighthood Was in Flower," "Becky of Beauvoir," "The Flamingo Girl," "Blonde of the Follies," "Page Miss Gentry" and "Bachelor Father" were among her credits.

At the peak of her career, an orchestra played mood music on location. Luncheon breaks were champagne breaks and often lasted three hours.

She did not marry until Oct. 31,

Friar Serves Lord With Songs, Guitar Numbers He Composes

OTTAWA, Ontario (AP) — Montreal Hit Parade, and his "Make a joyful noise unto the Lord," says the Psalm—and Father Bernard de Brienne does just that.

The guitar-strumming, singing friar from Quebec Province "serves the Lord with gladness" through self-composed, catchy airs on a religious theme that talk to the teen-age crowd in their own language.

He has appeared twice on the Montreal Hit Parade, and his sales of records in parts of Quebec top those of other "pops" artists. He is a member of the musicians union. The profits on his records go to an education fund for priests and for charity.

The priest, 35, is a member of the order of St. Francis Minor, founded by St. Francis of Assisi.

Inspired By Saint
"St. Francis was called God's troubador in his day," says Father Bernard, inspired by the life of the saint.

Father Bernard plays all string instruments and has a wide musical range. He is also a sculptor and painter and has designed jackets for his own records.

He turned to a contemporary musical idiom as the most practical way of delivering his religious message. The bouncy beat appreciated by teen-agers suits the simplicity of his lyrics in their identification of the Deity with everyday life.

"Preaching appeals to reason—but man is not only mind but body and soul," he said. "If people see a happy man it has a stronger appeal. People should also teach with something they like."

Folk Songs
He says his songs, 400 in French and 100 in English, are born the same way as folk songs.

"They are an expression of joys and sorrows and are religious because my way of looking at things is religious."

Father Bernard was born in Montreal of parents who emigrated from France. He entered the Franciscan order at 20.

During his training at university he happened on a story of the life of St. Francis, which decided his future. He also worked briefly in Boston as a dress designer, something he once intended as his life work.

He conducted a swing orchestra in college days, and later performed with classical groups. After entering religious orders he obtained his degree from the University of Montreal, and graduated from the Montreal Conservatory of Music and the Montreal Beaux Arts School.

His musical switch to pops happened spontaneously while he was ministering to 200 young workers at Sherbrooke, Que. Knowing of his musical ability, they urged him to perform. But they said they couldn't understand "long-hair stuff," so he mastered the guitar and at the same time discovered another musical gift—his voice.

He's been in demand as a performer ever since.

Group Seeks To Prevent Sale of Land

Bill Would Give Federal Land to Catholic Hospital

Chicago Daily News Service
WASHINGTON—A religious controversy erupted here over a proposal to transfer 79 acres of government-owned land in Maywood, Ill., to a Catholic hospital in Chicago, free of charge.

A national group advocating the separation of church and state declared open war on the proposal, charging it would be unconstitutional. The group promised a "full investigation."

Under the proposal 79 acres belonging to the Veterans' Administration Hospital at Hines, Ill., would be given to Loyola University of Chicago to build a medical center.

Bills to authorize the switch have been introduced in both the House and the Senate.

Three Sponsors
Sponsors in the senate are Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill.) and Sen. Everett Dirksen (R - Ill.) House sponsor is Rep. Edward Finnegan (D-Ill.).

None of the sponsors of the bill was able to estimate the value of the land and a spokesman for the Veterans' Administration said the VA doesn't know.

Rep. Finnegan said, however, "It is undoubtedly very valuable." He indicated it easily would run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The group protesting the move is Protestants and Other Americans United for the Separation of Church and State.

Stanley Lowell, associate director of the group in its national headquarters here, declared: "Unconstitutional"

"In our opinion this is an unconstitutional disposition of valuable public assets, violating the first amendment."

"The hospital involved would be under church ownership and operation. It would be an entirely sectarian operation."

"To do this would be donating land to support a sectarian operation."

He said the group's legal department will look into the proposal and that he planned to contact the group's Chicago branch office to alert personnel there.

Lowell said it appeared as though attempts were made to slip the bills quietly through the House and Senate near the close of the current congressional session without attracting attention.

Catch in Time

"These things happen at the end of every congressional session," he said, "and if you don't catch them in time you find that nothing can be done to stop them."

The Senate bill has been referred to the Committee on Labor and Public Welfare. A spokesman

Missile Age Aid From Doughnut Salesman?
OLEAN, N.Y. (AP) — A doughnut salesman helped the Air Force show off its Minuteman missile recently.

A 60-foot display model of the missile was supposed to be raised on a truck at a downtown intersection but its crew couldn't get it up because of a power failure in the lifting device.

Along came doughnut salesman Richard Lord in his truck. He offered the use of his truck's spare generator.

The Air Force accepted and in a few minutes the Minuteman was pointed skyward.

Good Housekeeping Shop Sells Top Service With Reliable Appliances

The thought of top service that backs up each and every appli- ance leaving the Good Housekeep- ing Shop, 425 W. College Avenue, has influenced many area house- wives. The women all know that a machine which is made up of 500 parts is bound to have one of the parts need repair at some time or another during the lifetime of the machine.

At Grants you can see DeWalt's three new- est models, the 925 Standard, 925 Deluxe, and the Industrial 1030 which are the result of latest engi- neering and manufacturing tech- niques.

The store's policy of having an expert on the job has increased its popularity among the profes- sional woodworkers and home handiman. Mac McGinley, the power tool manager, is always ready to assist with woodworking problems. There is no obligation of course.

The DeWalt Power Shop is the original radial arm woodworking machine and has been the stand- it is to see the machine demon-

Currently, Grant's has a new program for DeWalt owners in this area. There are now free classes at the store in order to learn more about the DeWalt. There are no requirements for at- tendance. For enrollment just call the store, RE 4-5774. Details will be given to anyone interested. The first series of instructions is now in progress.

Trade-In Allowance

As a reminder to those who al- ready have power tools and would consider the purchase of a De- Walt Power Shop, Grant's has a ready market for used tools and will give the highest trade-in al- lowance in this area. Right now the firm has buyers waiting for used table saws and jointers. Grant's urges readers to bring their machines along when they come to shop — and they will re- ceive an on-the-spot quotation.

Also featured in the power tool department, are portable electric tools from leading manufacturers. Names such as Porter-Cable, Cummins and Dremel are on dis- play, demonstrated and in stock. Stationary tools will not handle all the jobs, so look over what is new at Grant's.

Ask about Grant's budget plan. This allows you to become an owner of a DeWalt Power Shop with no down payment. Terms will be arranged to suit your bud- get and payments can be made at a time best suited to your in- come.

And remember, Grant's power tool department will not be un- dersold by anyone.

Marriage Rite Comes First; Then Learning Laundry Skill

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a girl 20 years of age who is going with a fellow 27. Boris had one unsuccessful marriage and doesn't want another one. His first wife was a brainless little gadabout who didn't know beans about how to keep house or sew to be a wife.

This fellow Landers brings his laundry over once a week so I can practice on his shirts and get them just the way he wants them. He's very fussy about the amount of starch and all. He says if I get it down to perfection now it will save arguments after we are married.

My father gets very burned up when he sees Boris turning his laundry over here. He says his mother should be taking care of his clothes. Who is right?—Aiming to Please

Dear Aiming: Your father. If you want to practice ironing why don't you do Dad's shirts? You can conquer the starch problem later.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You seem like a broad-minded person. I hope you'll give me the answer I want.

I've been going with a very nice man for several months. He has a peculiarity that drives me crazy. He refuses to have even one drop of liquor. I'm no lush, Ann. In fact, three is my limit but I do enjoy one or two cocktails before dinner when we eat out. It's very embarrassing for a woman to order a drink when her escort sits there and says "No thank you."

He makes her look like a fool—or worse yet, a solitary drunk.

Last night there were others present and I asked him to order a mild cocktail just to be sociable. You know liquor makes people more jovial and friendly. He refused in front of everybody. I say a gentleman would have ordered one drink and sipped it just to be polite. Right?—Betsy

Dear Betsy: Wrong. Your friend may be an alcoholic who should not have even one teaspoon of liquor, much less one drink. Since he's good enough to let you drink if you wish, then you should be good enough to let him not drink if he doesn't wish.

As for liquor making people "jovial and friendly," I've read thousands of letters from women whose husbands have become so "jovial and friendly" that they can't hold a job. Their lives are a mess and they manage to mess up the lives of good women and innocent children.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please let me describe myself to you and then tell me what I can do about it.

Well, first my hair is straight as a string and no matter what I do with it, it won't curl. Then there is my face. I have blue eyes which are quite small. Is there anything that can be done about small eyes? My nose is too big for my face. My figure isn't big but I am too heavy in the middle. I have been doing exercises to get my waistline down but so far I can't notice any results.

I'm O. K. around girls but I get around boys I remember how ugly I am and then fact, three is my limit but I do enjoy one or two cocktails before dinner when we eat out. It's very embarrassing for a woman to order a drink when her escort sits there and says "No thank you."

He makes her look like a fool—or worse yet, a solitary drunk.

Forget about your small eyes and your straight hair. Concentrate on developing a pleasant personality. If you are friendly and fun to be with the fact that you're no beauty won't matter.

Are you tempted to smoke because the crowd does? If so, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Teenage Smoking," enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mental Health Research Aid Gets Assist

Psychiatric Unit Provides Peg to Attract More Funds

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau MADISON—The revival of the Wisconsin Psychiatric Institute as a functioning state agency will provide a peg for the solicitation of mental health research funds from the big national foundations and the National Institutes of Health, state officials report.

The reactivation of the Institute, which had existed in name only for a number of years, was achieved with a new law adopted this year that also provided a nominal sum for the first state-financed mental problems research program ever authorized in the state. The plan was devised by a commission on mental health set up two years ago, and was endorsed by Gov. Gaylord Nelson and the state legislature. The new state appropriation provides $80,000 a year.

Meanwhile the University of Wisconsin has appointed to the staff of the Institute numbers of its specialists for part-time and advisory duties, while they retail their payroll positions in the regular university schools.

Major Problem State officials urged the inauguration of a state-sponsored research program in the fields of mental disease and mental deficiency in recognition of the social and financial importance of the mental health problem. State taxpayers are now spending at the rate of $40 million a year for the state hospitals and other treatment programs available to the mentally ill.

Gov. Nelson in approving the new law predicted that the Institute will attract large additional sums of private and federal government grants.

The Institute's work will be guided by an advisory board of

Performer in Western Singing Group Dies

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP)—Karl Farr, 52, one of the original members of the Sons of the Pioneers, a western singing group, collapsed and died Wednesday night while playing a guitar. He was pronounced dead by a physician at the Eastern States Exposition, where the group is appearing. Farr, who was born in Texas, lived in Hollywood.

The movie series ran to 13 features and helped spawn such stars as Red Skelton, Van Johnson and Laraine Day. "Calling Dr. Kildare" (1939) was the most famous of the films and the title became a national phrase. "We're being careful not to use the paging system in the TV series," said Hirschman. "Whenever Dr. Kildare gets a call, it's on the telephone."

Dr. Kildare to Reappear in New TV Series

Dick Chamberlain in Role Lew Ayres Had In 13 Movie Features

BY BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Dick Chamberlain, poor lad, doesn't know what he's in for.

He walks around like a normal human being, happy with the world, well-adjusted.

All this will change next Thursday.

Chamberlain, 26, is the 1961 Dr. Kildare, starring in the TV version of the hospital stories beginning next week.

That means he inherits not only Lew Ayres scalpel and sterile tools, but all the stale jokes as well.

Old Gags Renewed

"Calling Dr. Kildare." Remember all the gags that started that way?

"Already people are coming up and complaining of a pain here or there," the actor admitted. "It gets to be somewhat of a bore. The only answer I have is to prescribe a Mediterranean cruise."

Chamberlain is a Los Angeles boy, son of a manufacturer. After Army service in Korea, he studied voice and drama and landed a few roles in TV films. He starred in an MGM Western pilot film that failed to sell, but that didn't stop producer Herbert Hirschman from taping him for Dr. Kildare.

The movie series ran to 13 features and helped spawn such stars as Red Skelton, Van Johnson and Laraine Day. "Calling Dr. Kildare" (1939) was the most famous of the films and the title became a national phrase.

"We're being careful not to use the paging system in the TV series," said Hirschman. "Whenever Dr. Kildare gets a call, it's on the telephone."

'New' Movie Carded for Tonight's TV

BY TV SCOUT

12-12:30 (Channel 2) — Accent moves to this new day and time, and its first show is a made-in-England look at "English Humor: Beyond the Fringe." The title refers to a satirical revue which is currently popular in London. You'll meet the four men, who created "Beyond the Fringe," talking with CBS' Alexander Kendrick.

3 (Channel 11) — A big day for grid fans, starting with College Football. Today's game is Mississippi vs. Arkansas, from Jackson, Miss.

6:30-7:30 (Channel 11) — ABC gives The Roaring '20s two weeks off to show a two-part special, The Assassination Plot At Teheran. This was to have been the start of a new series about the Counter-Intelligence Corps, but it was dropped after trouble between the sponsor and the network. So ABC decided to show it as a special. It is basically a jazzed-up version of The Untouchables, with spies instead of hoodlums and spy hunters instead of Nessmen. The story purports to tell a Nazi attempt to kill Roosevelt, Stalin and Churchill at Teheran.

7:30-8 (Channel 11) — In Leave It to Beaver's repeat, Beaver is canned into climbing a hillboard to see if there's real soup inside the steaming bowl. The guests at brother Wally's party all go out to see who the nutty kid is who fell into the soup. A very funny show.

7:30-8:30 (Channel 2) — The Defenders follows last week's smash opener with an even better one. "Killer Instinct" has William Shatner as the guest star, and he is magnificent as a decent man goaded beyond endurance by a bully. So he kills him. He begins to have conscience pangs, of course, and the trial scenes follow logically.

8-10 (Channel 5-4) — Saturday Night At the Movies is the first attempt to program a series of feature films in prime network viewing time. From now on, you'll see a movie new to television every Saturday night. First up is "How To Marry a Millionaire," a 1953 comedy starring Marilyn Monroe, Betty Grable, Lauren Bacall, David Wayne, Rory Calhoun, Cameron Mitchell and William Powell. It is billed as "uncut." It may be uncut, but it will surely be cut horizontally; this was the second Cinemascope picture (first was "The Robe") and the ends will be lopped off to fit the TV screen.

8:30-9 (Channel 2) — The Martins and the Coys were pikers compared to the Whitneys and the Darrows, the two feuding families whose teen-age descendants cause Palatin problems on tonight's Have Gun, Will Travel. Duane Eddy, a rock 'n' roll guitarist gone straight, plays the boy and Jena Zigstrom the girl.

Save the Elms Any Way at All

One of Wisconsin's important assets is the thousands of beautiful elm trees which grace the lawns of the cities and the roadsides of the country. They now are threatened by the Dutch Elm disease which has destroyed millions of trees in other states and is moving northward through Wisconsin from the Illinois line. The elm is loved in Wisconsin for its grace and beauty. It is a welcome tree in all communities because it is functional as a shade tree and it is clean. It produces a minimum of broken twigs and its seeds are small and easily disposed of. Few trees are as useful and as trouble free.

There is small wonder that the people of Wisconsin have shown a willingness to spend millions of dollars to save these trees which have become so familiar to them. Scientists at the University of Wisconsin have been using all their knowledge and skill to find a defense against the Dutch Elm disease. So far only the routine defense of spraying has been recommended. However, a city forester in Beloit believes he has discovered a mixture which will cure the disease. William Kreamer, reports that he has had success fighting this disease through the use of a chlorine-base solution which he says is added to the sap of the tree to make it beetle resistant.

The announcement is cheering news but people interested in saving elm trees should not build up false hopes. Scientists at the University of Wisconsin have expressed some skepticism about Kreamer's cure principally on the ground that experiments Kreamer has made have not been conducted on a controlled basis.

Contrast in Plans

President Kennedy's speech before the United Nations probably will bring out Western disarmament proposals. We hope he also will repeat the differences between the Western and Russian plans for dealing with Germany. Those neutrals who complain that the West really wants a divided Germany, or will make no concessions, should read the plans over every morning.

The Western plan, as presented by then Sec. of State Christian Herter at a Foreign Ministers meeting in Geneva in May, 1959, stressed the necessity of free elections. Step by step, the plan called for unification of East and West Berlin through free elections and guarantees of the city's freedom by the Big Four, a mixed German committee, chosen according to population, to draft an electoral law for all-German elections; limitations at that time of both United States and U.S.S.R. ground forces in the area; elections within 30 months of an all-German assembly along with further arms limitations of outside forces; negotiations and then completion of a peace treaty with a unified Germany and the withdrawal of all troops from the area with-

On the other hand, Beloit College officials have agreed to let Kreamer use the solution on campus trees as a further experiment in the hope of saving them. Miller Upton, president of Beloit College, says the college officials are satisfied that there is a possibility the solution may save the campus elms. The college has agreed to cooperate on an experimental basis. It points out it is losing the trees anyway and so is willing to try Kreamer's solution.

Dr. E. B. Smalley, plant pathologist at the University of Wisconsin, said that the university probably will test the solution in spite of skepticism.

Kreamer reports that on one occasion he doused the roots of a diseased tree with his solution. The tree obviously was diseased, he said, and had been tagged by the state for removal. Its leaves were folded and yellow. Twenty-four hours later he went back to investigate and found the folded leaves had returned to their natural position. Forty-eight hours later the yellow color, which is a symptom of the disease, became green. In all, Kreamer has sprayed about 100 trees, some of them healthy, as a preventative measure. All of the diseased trees which were treated have responded and apparently are healthy again, he says.

A corporation has been formed to produce and sell the solution. Kreamer now is in the process of getting the product registered with the Pure Food and Drug Administration in Washington. We hope it works and that Kreamer and his supporters succeed in saving the elm trees for Wisconsin and further, that they are richly rewarded for their efforts.

out specific permission of the host country.

In contrast, the Russian plan demanded separate peace treaties with "the two German states" which then would be left to do what they supposedly wanted about reunification. West Berlin, but only West Berlin, was to be a "free, demilitarized city" with an end to "occupation" by Western troops. Soviet troops would be subsequently withdrawn from Germany, Poland and Hungary if all NATO troops would dismantle and abandon all military bases on foreign territory.

Where is there any hope either for German reunification or self-determinism in the Russian plan? It would perpetuate the division and the captivity of the East Germans. There would be no guarantee whatsoever that Russian troops would withdraw once NATO troops were dissolved and the roads through Europe were wide open for conquest.

This is the message of totalitarian blackmail and oppression that every Westerner should repeat to every neutral in whatever is left of the United Nations by next week."

prepared for that eventuality. The Minister of Tourism and Information in Spain, violently opposed to restoration, has tried to keep down any news about Don Carlos. But the rumors abound and his attributes for rule and compromise have been well-publicized. Dictator Franco earned the allegiance of the Spanish people who survived the bloody civil war; but their love, tinged with violence, and their delight in romance and trappings were not won by the soldier-commander. When Franco goes the way of all men, there is no obvious successor; dictators do not draw them. To keep peace and prevent another holocaust, a return to the monarchy might be the answer.

All of this may seem out of place in 1961. But the influence of royal households cannot yet be cast aside. And perhaps for some peoples and nations it might be better if they never were.

housing and distribution costs are burdening their budgets. Some communities are beginning to put on the brakes. Commissioners of one Texas county have ruled that a person eligible for the food must present a doctor's certificate saying he is unable to work.

Although it is unrealistic to suppose we can send our surplus food to the hungry abroad while our own needy at home are short, constant vigilance is required to see that the cheaters don't make a farce of it. As it looks today, the federal government has set out to spread the food everywhere without much supervision as to whether it gets into legitimate mouths.

Potomac Fever — by Fletcher Knebel

The Kennedy administration is determined to weather the crisis. It has called up 73,000 reserves — and five hurricanes.

Republican Chairman Miller says the Kennedy team is "inept." Democrats retort: Well, if you gotta be ept, it's better to be in than out.

The United Nations are split over a new secretary-general. But both sides agree on the slogan: Don't send a man to do a whipping boy's job.

BY ROBERT L. REYNOLDS
Jean de Brebeuf's French ancestors had followed the banners of Louis IX to the Holy Land. Jean's personal crusade was to be of another nature: clad in the black cassock and round flat hat of the Society of Jesus, he was to spend his zeal in faraway Canada, working for the salvation of an obscure tribe of Indians. In the process he would lose his life, after excruciating tortures. But in the end he would win what to him was a higher goal: martyrdom and canonization as a saint of the Catholic church.

The Jesuit priest toiled for years to bring Christianity to the Hurons of Canada, but lost his life when he became caught in the Iroquois attack on the Hurons. No foreign missionary to North America was more cruelly martyred. The story of his work, which elevated him to the ranks of sainthood, is told by an associate editor of American Heritage.

De Brebeuf and the Jesuits came to Canada in 1635 — to work jointly with the Franciscans — on the crest of a spiritual renewal that was sweeping France. The Jesuits were sending missionaries to the farthest ends of the earth, and de Brebeuf volunteered for service in Canada.

He spent his first autumn and winter with the Montagnais tribe, who occupied the country around Quebec, and not only learned to converse fluently in the dialect, but compiled a Montagnais dictionary and started writing a grammar.

For several reasons, the Jesuit missionaries had set their sights on the proud and intelligent Hurons, who inhabited the shores of Lake Huron. The Hurons lived a relatively settled existence, and it would be easier to establish lasting missions among them. The Franciscans had already spent some time in the Huron country. And the area was located strategically at the center of a vast network of rivers and lakes that might open the way to similar conversions among the tribes to the north, south, and west.

When the Huron canoes came for their annual trading visit to Quebec, de Brebeuf, another Jesuit and a Franciscan returned with them to what is now Georgian Bay, Ontario, a trip of 30 days and nearly 1,000 miles of paddling and portaging.

Hurons Traders

De Brebeuf estimated that the Hurons numbered about 30,000, in about 20 villages between Georgian Bay and Lake Simcoe to the east. In the main they were a sedentary people who lived by trade and agriculture.

When the French first came, the Hurons were a stone-age people whose primitive farming methods periodically exhausted the land, forcing them to move their villages every 15 years. Yet these villages were surprisingly well constructed, with houses built of saplings covered with bark.

The Huron way of life gave

the lie to the notion that the Indian, uncontaminated by white civilization, lived a spartan existence marked by orderly habits and natural virtue. De Brebeuf seems from the first to have conceived an affection for the Hurons quite unrelated to the fact that they were targets for conversion. Yet this did not blind him to their faults: they were dirty, and so lazy that the men did little work not forced upon them by necessity. Also, they were inveterate gamblers.

Lived With Tribe

Very early in his missionary career de Brebeuf came to the conclusion that he would succeed in reaching these primitive people only if he shared their daily existence in every particular short of sin. So he and the other Jesuit, Father Anne de

None, accepted the open-handed hospitality of the native cabins. It was a decision they would be forced to modify later on, if only to be able to observe their vow of chastity. For among the Hurons, men and women enjoyed complete sexual freedom both before and after marriage.

Widely, de Brebeuf decided not to launch a frontal attack on the Indians' morals at once. There were other tasks, the most essential being to learn the language.

Adept as he was, de Brebeuf found the Huron vocabulary unusually difficult. De None, after a year of effort, had made almost no progress with it, and this, combined with the fact that he did not possess de Brebeuf's facility for getting along with the natives, led him to return to Quebec. De Brebeuf with the Franciscan, Joseph de la Roche Daillon, labored on through the summer, fall and winter of 1637. The following June de la Roche Daillon returned to Quebec to make his report, leaving de Brebeuf the only priest in Huronia. Although in two years he had made not a single convert, de Brebeuf kept at his appointed task. He discovered that the Hurons believed there were good and bad spirits, and that all the phenomena of Indian life — wars and feasts, the flowing of streams and the blowing of the wind — fell under their jurisdiction. De Brebeuf realized that to replace this melange of legend and superstition with Christian concepts would be a long process.

He had hardly begun to confront his task when he was recalled to Quebec because of English attacks on Canada, and was hidden to bring corn to help the town's near-starving citizens.

Five years passed before he could return to Huronia, and this time the mission was entirely Jesuit. The priest's home, with a chapel at one end, became a mecca for the savages, for at mealtimes their kettle always contained enough to feed an extra guest.

Medicine Men Hostile

For the first year, they baptized almost no adults, but set up an informal religious school for the children. The missionaries thought they detected some signs of progress among the children, but the elders of the tribe rebuffed them, saying, "It is good for the French, but we are another people, with different customs."

What was harder to bear was the open hostility of the Huron medicine men, who held sway over the people by professing to be able to interpret dreams, in whose power the Indians believed intensely.

If the Christian gospel was not making its mark on the Hurons, other forces were conspiring to humble them. In 1635 a severe drought swept the country. Four years later there descended the worst scourge of all — smallpox — which killed the Hurons by the thousands.

The epidemic, plus the Hurons' continuing war of attrition with the Iroquois, had reduced the population from 30,000 in 1635 to 12,000 in 1640.

For years the Iroquois had been sending small raiding parties into Huron country. Now they were out in force, and the toll they took was frightening.

It is probably not fair to the Jesuits to assume that the wave of Huron conversions that now began was related to the smallpox and the belief of the savages that by worshipping the Christian God they would cement their ties with the French, who in turn would save them from the Iroquois.

Converts Mount

For the Jesuits had greatly augmented their forces and had recently changed their approach. They had built a central mission station as headquarters for the priests, and also to serve as a rallying point where their Indian converts would be safe from the pagan influences of their villages. Their efforts bore fruit. In the year 1646-47 alone, a total of 1,300 Indians asked for baptism.

Father de Brebeuf had not agreed with the idea of a central mission, and though he joined in the plan, he asked and received permission to spend most of his time serving five outlying villages.

In one of these, St. Louis, he found himself on the morning of March 16, 1649, in the company of young Father Gabriel Lalemant. The two priests had just finished saying their morning masses when out of the forest burst three Huron braves. "The Iroquois!" they shouted. "We alone escaped!"

After an initial moment of shock, the two priests hastened into the Indian lodges to evacuate the 400 women and children of St. Louis. When only the able-bodied fighting men remained, one of them, a Christian, shouted to the priests, "My brothers, save yourselves. Go now, while there is still time." But the Jesuits refused.

Iroquois Attack

Suddenly the Iroquois were on them in a rush. As the defenders began falling, the two priests gave absolution to their converts and baptized the unbelievers. Once the Iroquois were driven back, again they came on with redoubled fury. In a moment only about 60 Hurons were left alive, and they laid down their arms.

The two Jesuits, who had been roughly stripped to the skin, were herded with the other captives toward a nearby town. About noon their torture began in earnest. De Brebeuf, whom the Iroquois regarded as a special prize, was selected as the first victim.

First, they tied him to a post and scorched his entire body with fire, seeking to silence him as he exhorted the Christians among the Hurons to keep up their courage. As he continued to speak, the Iroquois thrust burning brands down his throat, but still he cried out to his followers: "Jesus, have mercy upon us!" Then his torturers put around his neck a rope of vines with hot metal axe-heads strung on it.

As he bore each torment without flinching or crying out, the fury of the Iroquois mounted. Next they fastened a girdle of pitch-filled bark around his waist and loins and set fire to it, but still he shouted encouragement to his flock. Others poured kettles of scalding water over his head in derision of the Christian baptism. Still the beleaguered Jesuit cried out: "Jesus, tateur!" ("Jesus, have mercy upon us!")

At last, in a frenzy, the Iroquois came at him in a group, hacking at his flesh with their knives until a chief finally cut out his heart and ate it in triumph, thinking to absorb some of the white man's prodigious courage. After four horrible hours Father Jean de Brebeuf was dead.

Lalemant survived for 13 hours, probably because the Indians revived him periodically so they might save him for a dawn sacrifice to one of their gods. He endured as bravely as de Brebeuf and died with equal heroism.

Toss Iron Curtain Bloc Out of U.N., Editor Suggests

From The Idaho Daily Statesman

For our part we wish the United Nations would toss Russia out on her ear and suggest to her satellite nations that they should tag along. It is impossible to negotiate anything with Russia. This the United Nations has learned. So if they would toss them out of the club and issue a warning that the first time Moscow got busy in something the U. N. didn't like, trouble would follow, that would make far more sense than the present sorry situation where Russia steamrollers the U.N. meetings.

At the last U.N. session which Premier Khrushchev attended, he took off his shoes and banged on his desk in protest. That was the time to have given him the boot. But it still isn't too late. Russia, without the United Nations as a valuable tool, might not be so bold.—

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Sept. 19, 1861.

The Beaver Dam Democrat chronicles the discovery of a very curious complaint, the prevalence and fatality of which are most remarkable.

"A singular disease has made its appearance. The unfortunate patient, as soon as the word abolition is mentioned in his hearing, begins to jump, kick, swear, hop, skip, rear, charge, tear, cavort, snort, rip, squeal, howl, moan, groan, bellows, bewail, lament, despond, turn pale, look savage, froth at the mouth, look savage, roll his eyes, stamp his feet on the ground, wheel round and round, fall down and get up again, and then does that all over again. Oh, horrible!"

It is evidently inferable (as the Springfield Republican would say), in this connection (as a Bostonian would be sure to say), that a Democrat man must have been reading the "Civil War" leader in a recent number of the Appleton Crescent.

The disease is worse than the "belly-aches," by a long shot.

Skill With Shift, Like Buggy Whip Becomes Lost Art

From The Ogden (Utah) Standard-Examiner

There was news of a university instructor's discovery that only four out of 30 students in his class knew how to drive an automobile with a standard shift. The other 26 could handle a car equipped with an automatic transmission, but shifting gears manually was not within their ken.

The implication was that this indicated a certain lack of hardihood in the young. To which we say: Nonsense. Automatic transmissions are becoming more common each year. If junior can't drive with a straight shift, that is no more a sign of weakness than if Papa is not as deft with a buggy whip as grandpa was.—

Braves Call Special Press Parley Today

Milwaukee Takes Fourth Place as Cardinals Lose

BY DAVE O'HARA
MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves called a "very important press conference" today before resuming their fight, weather permitting, for a first division berth.

The Braves announced the noon meeting between club brass and baseball writers minutes after the opening of a three-game series with the Chicago Cubs was postponed because of rain Friday night.

Despite the postponement, the Braves took over sole possession of fourth place when St. Louis was beaten by Los Angeles, 6-3.

Perini in Town
A spokesman said only that owner Lou Perini would fly into Milwaukee for the meeting. Joe Carnes, the club president who is away directing a Perini construction project most of the time, also flew into town.

The announcement of the news conference touched off a wild guessing game, but the Braves' official family remained mum. The last time the Milwaukee club called a "very important press conference" was Saturday, Sept. 2, when Charlie Dressen was fired and replaced as manager by executive vice president Birdie Tebbels.

The heavy downpour which hit an hour before game time forced the umpires to postpone the Braves-Cubs game shortly after the scheduled starting hour. The ump's, who have jurisdiction prior to the start of a game in a final series, took one look at the inundated field and ordered the postponement. Waves of water flooded the dugouts.

As the Braves were idle, league-leading Cincinnati was defeated 6-0 by San Francisco. The results left the Braves 12 games out, and a half a game ahead of St. Louis.

The Braves immediately rescheduled the washout as part of a doubleheader today. Milwaukee named rookies Tony Cloninger, a right-hander with a 6-2 record, and Bob Hendley, southpaw owner of Conference opener for both a 5-6 mark, to pitch in the turn-bull. The Cubs planned to counter with lefty Jack Curtis (10-12) and right-hander Don Cardwell (14-12), and added 64 passing for a total KAUKAUNA — The Galloping Ghosts began a successful defense of their Mid-East Conference grid title Friday night, grinding out a 21-0 win over the Clintonville Truikers. The win was the tenth straight for Kaukauna including eight conference games.

In the process, the Kaukauna defensive unit gave advance notice it would be tough to crack this year as the boys limited the Truikers to 56 yards rushing and 32 yards passing. The alert unit also recovered three Clintonville fumbles.

Main weapon for Kaukauna was its strong running game although short passes over the center of the line kept the Truiker forward wall loose and kept them from concentrating their defense against the ground attack.

Move for Score
Kaukauna lost little time in setting a pattern for the night as the Ghosts took the opening kick-off and marched from their own 25-yard stripe to the Clintonville 15 before the drive stalled. Two plays later Bob Wurdinger intercepted a Clintonville pass on the 25-yard line.

The Ghosts then ran the ball to the 4-yard stripe from where Wurdinger swept end to score. Bill Nussbaum kicked the first of his three extra points to give Kaukauna a 7-0 lead. Shortly after the subsequent kick-off the first quarter ended.

The second quarter was a repeat of the first with the losers unable to move the ball. The only first down of the initial half for the Truikers came on a 5-

MENASHA — St. Mary successfully began defense of its Fox Valley Catholic Conference championship, and spoiled Oshkosh Lourdes' debut as well by blanking the Knights, 7-0, here Friday night.

The Zephyrs, in posting their first win under the direction of Coach Jack Wippich, used a second quarter touchdown and a stout defense to dispose of the new league entry.

They blew three other scoring chances, two on lost fumbles and another on a pass interception, but more than made up for their miscues with the defensive play which didn't permit the visitors inside the 15-yard stripe.

The defense, led by Mike Roemer, John Roedel, Dave Eckholm and Butch Lovenz, didn't allow the Knights within the 38 in the second half. The visitors were limited to 85 yards rushing and 19 passing on only one completion in 15 throws.

St. Mary picked up 146 yards by rushing and nine through the air on one completion in seven attempts. Roemer again sparked the offense but the Zephyrs uncovered a fine runner in Dick Jensen, who picked up 46 yards in seven carries subbing for Mike Rausch, after the latter was shaken up.

Receivers Fumble
Lourdes posed its only serious threat in the first period when it marched from the 50 to the St. Mary 15. It had a first down on the 15 but was back on the 18 when it ran out of downs.

St. Mary started its scoring drive after Rich Roth recovered an Oshkosh fumble on the latter's 46 early in the second canto. Roemer made five yards on the first play and then ran 23 yards to the 12 on the second. It was the longest run of the night by either team.

Rausch and Roemer carried the ball to the three in two plays and with fourth down and a foot to go, Roemer banged to the one. Rausch went around his left end on the next play for the touchdown.

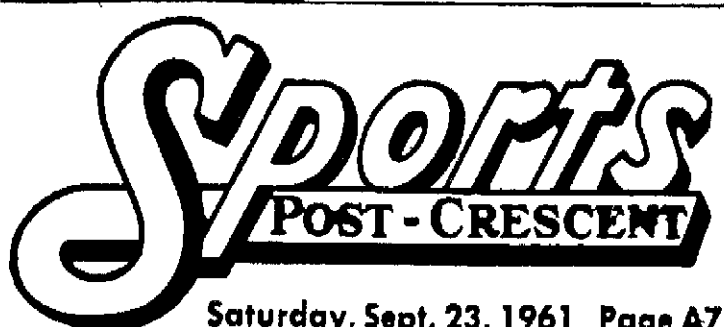

After lining up in place kick formation, Bill Starr passed to Eckholm for the extra point. Later in the period, Lourdes fumbled and lost on its 19 but Starr's second down pass was swiped by Mike Spencer on the three.

Lourdes Drive Stopped
Starr recovered a Lourdes' fumble on the St. Mary 42 in the third period, halting a Knight drive which had started on the 14. He barely had possession before it rolled out of bounds.

Early in the fourth frame, St. Mary moved from its 48 to the Lourdes' 17 but Starr's fumble was lost to Chuck Grable of Lourdes. Jensen lost the ball on a hobble on the Lourdes 15 later in the period.

The final three minutes were a comedy of errors. St. Mary was penalized three times for pass interference and Lourdes was detected pushing once. During one span there were 15-yards on three successive plays.

That was more than enough for O'Dell (6-5), who gave up a bit in every inning except the sixth, but turned back each threat.

Bob Purkey (16-12) started for the Reds, gave up two runs in the second on a walk to Orlando Cepeda, a double by Jim Davenport and Pagan's two-run single, then was chased in the third when the Giants scored on Willie McCovey's run producing single.

The Dodgers went ahead against the Cards with three runs in the third on three walks by Joser Ray Sadecki (14-7), a sacrifice fly by Gil Hodges, Ron Fairly's single, a passed ball and an error on a Duke Snider pop-up. They clinched it in the fourth against Bob Miller on Maury Wills' single and double by Jim Gilliam and Wally Moon.

Don Drysdale (12-9) tagged for homers by Bill White and Carl Sawatsky, picked up the win but needed Ron Peranowski's shutout relief over the final three innings.

Ramblin' Wreck
Runs, Passes Trojans
Silly in First Half

Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Georgia Tech's well-tuned Ramblin' Wreck headed home today after walloping Southern California, 27-7. And it might be just as well for the Trojans if they stopped scheduling Southeastern Conference teams for opening games.

The big, hard hitting Engineers, guided by quarterbacks Stan Gann and Billy Lothridge, ran and passed the Trojans silly in the first half Friday night for a 24-0 lead.

The Trojans outpointed Tech in the second half with a touchdown to the visitors' second field goal.

Was Favorite
Southern California, thanks to an immense lack of knowledge about Bobby Dodd's Ramblin' Wreck, went into the game as a one-point favorite.

The 36,950 on hand in Memorial Coliseum soon discovered this was a bad miscalculation.

The Trojans' opening game jinx with teams from Dixie started in 1938 when Alabama knocked 'em off, 19-7. Tulane came along in 1942 with a 27-14 victory.

No Alibis
But there were no alibis at Troy.

"We won't meet a better defensive team this year," said the Trojans' young coach, John McKay.

Lothridge opened the scoring in the first quarter with a 35-yard field goal and closed it in the fourth with a 27-yard 3-pointer.

Tech's three touchdowns came in the second period. Gann scored from the one and passed for 31 to halfback Billy Williamson.

Lothridge threw a 30-yard pass for six points to reserve back Joe Auer and booted all three extra points.

A happy thought for the Trojans that 1938 Southern Cal outfit went on to the Rose Bowl and defeated Duke 7-3.

KAUKAUNA — Orville Kloes shot par 35 to set the pace in the final round of action in the Twilight League at Fox Valley Golf Club Thursday.

Brunner honors went to Bob Dorus and Wayne Hull with scores of 36 while Bob Minkbe and Earl Schuler shot 37. Fred Ropzy winners were Jerry Lamers, Earl Schuler, Bernard Borders, Jim Strick and Ed Poppe.

Morgan Printing finished as loop champions with 657 points followed by Berg Cleaners with 759. Others among the top five were Kaukauna Klub, 797, Johnson Drugs, 790 and Haas Hardware, 788.

St. John Edges St. Mary
In Boy's League Opener

MENASHA — Little Chute St. John edged St. Mary, 14-12, in their Catholic Boys' League opener here Friday afternoon.

St. Mary led 12-0 at the half on touchdowns by Dan Hoks but the Dutchmen tallied seven points in the third period and then added the deciding score with about two minutes left to play.

Pressure on Man Who Got Maris' Homer Ball Telling

BALTIMORE (AP) — Now the pressure is beginning to bother Babe Ruth, the 32-year-old Baltimorean who caught the ball Roger Maris hit Wednesday night for home run No. 59.

Maris, the New York Yankee slugger, revealed Friday that the strain of chasing Babe Ruth's elusive 34-year-old record of 60 homers in one season had caused tuffs of hair on his head to fall out.

Reitz, an unemployed machine operator, hasn't reached that stage. But he said he was unable to sleep Thursday night and Friday he smoked six packs of cigarettes.

$500 Offer from Miami
Just before going to bed early Friday night because of a headache, Reitz received a $1,000 offer from a Glen Burnie, Md., resident, who wanted the ball for a private collection. Reitz refused to identify the caller.

Thursday, a $500 offer was made by Daniel L. Wagner of Miami, Fla., who sent a telegram to Memorial Stadium, home of Baltimore Orioles, addressed to "The man who caught the ball that Roger Maris hit."

Receives Call
And Friday night, The Associated Press bureau in Baltimore received a telephone call from Sacramento, Calif., asking for the address of Reitz. The inquiry was made by a woman, who said she was calling from channel 10, KX-TV. She declined to give the reason for wanting to contact Reitz.

wasn't moving fast enough and Lucas because the other quarterbacks were injured.

Three games are scheduled Sunday afternoon, featured, of course, by the Houston-San Diego clash. This one matches the leaders of the respective divisions—Houston for the East and San Diego for the West. It also should establish the overall championship favorite.

Quite Different
Houston beat San Diego for the title last fall but it has been quite different in this season's exhibition grind. Twice San Diego walloped the Oilers but when the games started counting in the Boston and Buffalo, a couple of clubs known for their inconsistency, clash at Buffalo Saturday night to get a busy weekend underway in the American Football League race.

The big doings come Sunday when the only undefeated teams in the field—San Diego and Houston—battle it out at San Diego.

The Boston-Buffalo melee could be a sizzler and just which should be favored is a question unknown by even the two teams.

Boston for instance lost to New York 21-20 but Buffalo whipped New York 41-31. Yet Boston lashed Denver 45-17 and Denver toppled Buffalo 22-10.

Second Place Tie
These games are the reasons Buffalo and Boston are tied with New York for second place in the Eastern Division with 1-1 records.

The winner of the Patriot-Bills setto might move into a tie for first place but the loser definitely will be in a most disadvantageous position.

The Boston-Buffalo game should develop into quite a throwing contest.

Three Tied
For Lead at Portland

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—A veteran and two youngsters were leading the pack as 70 professionals and 10 amateurs entered the third round of the $25,000 Portland Open Golf Tournament today.

Jerry Barber, 45-year-old Los Angeles veteran was deadlocked after Friday's second 18-hole round with 24-year-old Dave Hill and Jerry Steelsmith 25.

All had 134 for 36 holes. Steelsmith slipped to a 69 Friday on the 6,475-yard, par 72 Chillum-Edgewater course, after taking the first round lead with a 65.

Record 64
Meanwhile Barber set a course record of 64 with a series of long birdie putts—three of them over 15 feet. He had a 70 in the opening round.

Barber, the PGA champion, had eight birdies and an eagle in breaking the course record by a stroke. He went over par on two holes, recording a 32 on each nine.

Hill, who trailed Steelsmith by a single stroke over one round, fired a 68 Friday to complete the three-way deadlock.

Gary Player, the pro tour's leading money winner was seven strokes behind the leader, but said he still felt he had a chance to take home top prize money of $3,500.

Jim Gentile
Blasts Fifth
Grand Slam

Ford Frick, faces rookie right-hander Don Schwall (15-5), who is slated to pitch for the Red Sox today.

Frick has stated that if Maris hits No. 60 or 61 it will go into the record book with an asterisk denoting that it was made after the 154th decision under the AL's expanded 162-game schedule. That likely will be the fate of Gentile's fifth slam.

In his games Friday, second-place Detroit beat Los Angeles 6-4 for Frank Lary's 22nd victory and Kansas City edged Cleveland 4-3. Washington—Minnesota was postponed.

Gentile's amazing success with the grand slam began May 19 when the 27-year-old Californian crashed consecutive bases-loaded homers against Minnesota and became the first player in major league history to hit back-to-back slams.

Gentile, who failed a host of major league trials before finally earning a berth with the Orioles last year, climaxed a seven-run outburst against Frank Baumann (10-13) and Larsen and handed Estrada (14-9) an 8-2 lead. Estrada needed it, giving up a grand slam shot to Floyd Robinson in the last of the ninth before Milt Pappas struck out Jim Landis for the final out.

Lary (22-9) achieved a personal high by beating the Angels and Eli Gribb (10-13), although he was touched for 10 hits, including a two-run homer by Leon Wagner. Al Kaline, who snapped a 4-4 tie with a sixth inning solo shot, Dick McAuliffe and Dick Brown homered for the Tigers.

Jerry Walker (8-13) and Jim Archer, who came on in the eighth, checked the Indians on four hits—one a two-run homer by Willie Kirkland. Leo Pineda's triple with two on in the sixth off Jim Perry (10-16) clinched it for the A's.

Detroit Tigers Sign
Two Prospects for '62

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers signed two youngsters Friday to contracts for next season with their Duluth-Superior club in the Class C Northern League.

Isaac Brown, 18, an infielder from Memphis, and Curtis White, 19, a left-handed pitcher from Chicago, will report to the farm club next spring.

Both players were with the Kansas City Monarchs this past season.

Maris Prefers to Play Anywhere
But in Boston's Fenway Park

BY JOE REICHLER

BOSTON (AP)—Any home runs Don Schwall (15-5), who is slated to pitch for the Red Sox today, Roger Maris hits at Fenway Park in the two game series between Boston and New York, starting today, will come as a welcome surprise to the Yankee slugger.

Maris, always honest with himself as with others, privately would prefer to be playing anywhere but at Fenway Park. He thinks the park will be a handicap to him in his effort to top Babe Ruth's 60 home runs in one season. The blond belter has hit 59. He has seven games left in which to top the Babe.

Never a haven for left-handed hitters because of the distant wall in right center, Fenway Park is especially rough in September because of the prevailing winds blowing in from that sector at this time of the year.

Often Voiced

This was a complaint often voiced by Ted Williams. The former Red Sox star would moan about the September wind blowing in from right field and then he would go out and bash a couple into the nevertheless—most home runs in a 162-game season.

Pass Brings 26-20 Win

Wolves Nip Polar Bears
In Last Three Seconds

WINNECONNE — Quarterback Dave Poehlman threw a 7-yard scoring pass to halfback Tim Brickham in the final three seconds Friday afternoon to give Winneconne High School a 26-20 football victory over Hortonville.

The TD pass, culminating a 55-yard drive, enabled the Wolves to tie Freedom for first place in the Little Nine Conference.

Trailing, 20-6, midway in the third quarter, Hortonville rallied to tie the game, 20-20.

Poehlman had a hand in three of the four Winneconne scores. He passed 25 yards to end Martin Day in the first quarter and swept right end for six yards and a touchdown in the third period. Halfback Ron Heath scored from the 1-yard line in the second quarter and ran for two extra points.

Hortonville produced the most spectacular play of the day, an 80-yard touchdown in the third quarter. Quarterback Bob Spaulding passed to Doug Meyer, and after a 15-yard gain, Meyer lateraled to Wayne Winters who sprinted the remaining 65 yards to the end zone.

The other Polar Bear TDs came on runs of 6 and 35 yards by Spaulding and Emory Rynders, respectively. Spaulding ran for two extra points.

Appendectomy
For U. of Georgia
Football Coach

ATHENS, Ga. (AP)—The University of Georgia's new head football coach was recovering from an emergency appendectomy today as his team prepared to open the Southeastern Conference season against the University of Alabama.

The 36-year-old Johnny L. Griffith was operated on successfully Friday night at Athens General Hospital only hours before his scheduled debut as head coach.

Prior to the operation the Georgia alumnus designated John Gregory acting head coach for the contest.

Griffith attended Friday's practice, a light pre-game, warmup, and then consulted the team physician and his own doctor who sent him to the hospital.

The operation was described as "very successful," indicating Griffith might be back at his desk the latter part of next week.

Football Official
Dies During Game

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—A high school football game official fell to the ground and died Friday night during a contest between McGill Institute of Mobile and Pensacola, Fla., High.

Fred Holmes, 50-year-old referee, was taken to a hospital where it was found he had died of a heart attack while running with the teams during the third period.

After a short delay the game continued and McGill won 13 to 7.

Babe Ruth's Widow Glad
Maris Didn't Break Mark

NEW YORK (AP)—Babe Ruth's widow said Friday she was happy Roger Maris didn't tie the Bambino's record of 60 home runs in 154 games.

"That was one record I didn't want broken," said Mrs. Claire Ruth. "I have the highest regard for Roger Maris. He's a fine hitter. But I must admit I'm glad he didn't equal the Babe's 60."

Mrs. Ruth watched the Wednesday night game—the Yankees' 59th I didn't know what was going to happen. Most home run hitters go on streaks and I figured that Roger might get hot. "Frankly, I didn't expect him to break the record on that last day but I wouldn't have been too much surprised if he tied it."

She explained why she was anxious that the Babe's 1927 record be preserved.

"If the record had been broken the next year after Babe made it, or even two or three years later, it wouldn't be so bad," she said. "But now that it has withstood challenges for 34 years, it would hurt to see it go."

Then she added: "The Babe loved that record. He wanted to be known as the king of home runs forever."

Reds Have Little to Say After Defeat

Hutchinson Uset as Cincinnati's Lead Is Cut to Four Games

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds gave the ball to Jim O'Toole today with the hope his left-handed slants would baffle the San Francisco Giants and get the Reds back on the pennant path.

Friday night's 6-0 shutout by the Giants was reflected heavily in the Reds' dressing room. Manager Fred Hutchinson was obviously upset, and the players had little to say.

The lead in the National League race was reduced to four games as the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated St. Louis, 6-3.

Magies Number Four

It kept the "magic" number at four—meaning any combination of Cincinnati victories and Dodger defeats totaling that number would give Cincinnati the flag.

It was a disappointing Friday night, not only for the Reds, but also for the 31,469 fans—the third largest crowd of the season.

Hutchinson sent Bob Purkey to the mound, hoping his fluttering knuckleball would beat the Giants. The veteran lasted 2 1-3 innings.

O'Dell Goes Route

Billy O'Dell, Giant pitcher, allowed eight hits, walked only one batter and went the route for only the third time this season. His record now is 6-5.

The batting of Chuck Hiller and Jose Pagan ruined the Reds.

Pagan, a .253 batter, drove in three runs with a single and a double. Hiller, at .229, knocked in two more. Willie McCovey sent the other run across the plate.

Nuclear Tests Arouse Anger Against Reds

Federal Radiation Council issued a set of recommended control actions based on the degree of seriousness which might develop in radiation exposure.

A council member said the recommendations were made from studies started about a year ago, before the Soviets resumed testing.

Precautionary Efforts

The general protective measures recommended cover a "graded scale of action" of successive precautionary steps according to the extent of exposure to radiation.

Actions would range from monitoring, surveillance and routine control, with little interference in a given area's usual activities, up to those which involve a major disruption, such as condemnation of food supplies.

The recommendations went out to all agencies working with radiation measurement and protection.

3 Tornadoes Hit Wisconsin

was left standing on the Robert Romey farm several miles west.

The Oswald Weiland farm was the first battered as the twister broke loose in Fond du Lac County. Several sheds and a chicken house were wrecked on the Weiland farm.

Run Into Basement

A few miles to the northeast, Alvin Seefeld, saw the tornado coming and ran with his family to the basement. A concrete milk house and a big barn were collapsed. A score of cattle was trapped in the wreckage and killed or maimed.

Witnesses said the funnel hit the ground again near Greenbush, wrecking the barn on the Ed Dick farm a mile east of town. It was Dick's son, Norman, who saw the storm and dived for cover. The son, operator of a machine shop on the farm, hid under a lathe only to look up and find the garage a few yards away had been destroyed.

The third tornado, which observers said was independent of the one which hammered the western part of the country, wrecked a barn and a garage.

The heavy rain was reported in Waukesha, West Bend and Milwaukee. A down-pour shortly after noon dumped 2.18 inches of rain at Gen. Billy Mitchell Field in 45 minutes. The greatest rainfall for a single hour ever recorded at the airport was 2.25 inches on June 13, 1950. Another heavy rain at night washed out the Milwaukee Braves-Chicago Cubs baseball game.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Coach Bob Waterfield of Los Angeles fears the Rams may run into an aroused bunch of Chicago Bears tonight when the two teams clash in the National Football League's only activity. The Rams battle the Bears in the Los Angeles Coliseum.

"When bears are awakened, they are the meanest," Waterfield asserts. "They may have been asleep last week" when the Chicago pros were thrashed by the NFL's newest team, the Minnesota Vikings, 37-13.

Coach George Halas will make only one change in his lineup. Either Bill Brown or John Adams will be at fullback as replacement for Rick Casares, sidelined for several weeks with a fractured wrist bone.

Second Appearance

All other NFL teams will be busy Sunday. Making their second appearance will be the Detroit Lions at Baltimore, Minnesota at Dallas, the New York Giants at Pittsburgh, the St. Louis Cardinals at Cleveland, the San Francisco 49ers at Green Bay and the Washington Redskins at Philadelphia.

The Minnesota-Dallas and Detroit-Baltimore games are the only ones bringing together clubs which both triumphed in opening tests last Sunday. Dallas used Allen Green's 27-yard field goal with one second remaining as the margin of a 27-24 victory over Pittsburgh.

Los Angeles, a 27-24 loser to Baltimore last week, is favored in its meeting with the Bears tonight.

Waterfield points to one penalty and one fumble which cost the Rams dearly. Otherwise he wasn't too displeased with the Rams' performance although concluding that "our offense could be more consistent."

Halas, looking back on the licking by the Vikings, thinks "we were faulty in many places and need improvement in execution of plays both on offense and defense."

Policy Shift May Reduce Berlin Crisis

negotiations becomes crucial. The Soviet demand for some kind of East German control over Berlin access routes, for example, would be an issue in any negotiations.

Rusk, Gromyko Confer

The question of whether there are to be negotiations is now under discussion between Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko here in New York. They talked for 4 1/2 hours Thursday and plan to meet again next week.

Rusk told Gromyko that the West is willing to negotiate but not on Khrushchev's terms. For the Western powers the critical issue is whether Khrushchev will accept a broader negotiating base—whether he will agree to put on the table not only his proposal for an East German peace treaty but also the wider problems of Germany and European security.

With the prospects for negotiation unclear, a conference of Western foreign ministers in Washington last week reportedly talked over—but made no firm decision—on the issues over which the West might be willing to bargain with the Soviets.

Included in that discussion, high diplomatic informants said, were such questions as recognition of the fact of Red rule over East Germany, the possibility of basing United Nations agencies in Berlin, the necessity of continued Western access to West Berlin. The various proposals for setting up an arms control zone in central Europe which would include German territory.

Hanner to be on Sidelines To Give Kostelnik Some Tips

Chicago Daily News Service

GREEN BAY—Ron Kostelnik will get an unexperienced baptism when the Packers play the 49ers at City Stadium Sunday afternoon.

The 255-pound tackle from Cincinnati University hadn't figured on playing much during the 1961 season . . . after all, he's playing behind Dave Hanner and Hank Jordan, two of the top defense tackles in the league.

But today Kostelnik finds himself a starter in place of Hanner, who underwent an appendectomy last Tuesday. Big Dave will be on hand Sunday and he'll be giving Kostelnik plenty of tips.

"This is going to be tough," Kostelnik said, quickly adding: "It was all right with Dave on the bench because if I did wrong I knew he'd be ready. But he can't play now."

Kostelnik Quite Green

Kostelnik is a big, strong tackle but, like most rookies, quite green. He's a real young one, too; just said.

Forrest Gregg will man one of the offensive tackle spots for Green Bay Sunday afternoon when the Packers meet San Francisco's 49ers in City Stadium. Gregg, a Southern Methodist product, is playing his fifth season in the National Football League.

Reed has been farther afield. He visited Mellen and Saxon to report to you how these two north woods communities feel about being chosen locations for a Hollywood film. The movie stars haven't arrived yet, but the art director and his crews have been working magic, much to the enthusiastic approval of the townspeople.

John Sawall, the Post-Crescent's New London reporter-photographer, starts a series on Outagamie County's Golden Age Home. He tells of why Outagamie County had to go into Waupaca County for a site of its home for the aged.

Two museums get notice also. Dick McDaniel, the Post-Crescent's Waupaca bureau chief, writes about Waupaca's Hutchinson House and Chilton Bureau Chief Don Kampfer reports on a new museum being started by Dr. Royal Kiofanda. He'll clear up the mystery for anyone who doesn't know what Ein Schnitzelbank is.

A complete section is turned over to women's news. The lead feature is coverage of the recent Appleton flower show in color and pen and ink sketch pictures. The sketches were done by Fred Schmidt, Post-Crescent staff artist who also is represented on the editorial page with a cartoon.

Staff Writer Mary Walters reports on the speed reading laboratories conducted at St. Norbert College this summer. The article is dressed up with pictures of youngsters using the reading techniques at St. Mary High School, Menasha.

The budget of top articles in tomorrow's Post-Crescent will range far. How does the United States stand in the race to space? What is the sailor, who jumped Khrushchev's yacht while Nikita was pounding his shoe, doing a year after his flight to freedom? Why are the backward nations leading baseball club until 6 p.m. of the world looking forward to More letters were mailed at suburban post offices.

That was the headline the Reds would start taking applications for tickets. Red officials will draw staffers and writers of the Associated Press and the Chicago from the stacks mailed in to give Daily News Service in the big, everybody an equal chance.

yard penalty against Kaukauna. As the losers attempted to move upfield, Bill Melzer fumbled and Don Rademacher of the winners recovered on the Clint 17-yard stripe.

With Wurdinger, Nussbaum and Versteegen alternating, the Ghosts moved in for a second score. Wurdinger skirted end from seven yards out, fumbled and recovered the ball in the end zone for the score shortly before the end of the half. Tom Andrews completed passes of 7 and 5 yards to Carl Vanden Heuvel in the first half as Kaukauna finished with 109 yards rushing and 12 passing while the losers had two incomplete passes, one pass intercepted and picked up 13 yards rushing.

Truckers Move

Clintonville showed a little more spark in the second half and took the opening kick-off upfield on the running of Steve Hedtke and Jack Korb. Two 16-yard passes from Bill Melzer to Korb and Bob Hoffman moved them into position on the Kaukauna 17 but here a fumble was recovered by Rademacher.

Kaukauna was unable to get a sustained drive underway and after an exchange of punts the quarter ended. The winners again took command in the fourth period to move for their final tally. Nussbaum scoring on a 20-yard run around end. The TD was set up by a pass from Andrews to Doug Baer and Vanden Heuvel.

Bill Jirikowic, Rademacher and Ray Granger played strong defensive games for the winners. Kaukauna finished with 184 yards rushing and 28 passing. The shut-out was the second of the season for Kaukauna.

Forbes, Segal May Join Kramer Troupe

Pair Talk Terms With Tony Trabert, Jack's European Manager

LONDON (AP)—Tony Trabert, European manager of Jack Kramer's professional tennis troupe, said Friday night he was talking terms with Gordon Forbes and Abe Segal, South Africa's top players.

"We are very interested in them both. I am certain they will become professionals and negotiations are likely to be resumed when we play the Kramer Cup final in Johannesburg Nov. 9-11," he said.

With Pancho Gonzales' contract expiring at the end of October, Trabert said Kramer was anxious for new blood. Terms were also talked over with Australian Rod Laver, this year's Wimbledon champion, and Roy Emerson has also been approached, Trabert said.

Laver, however, is not sure whether he can stand the physical grind involved in playing the professional circuit.

Trabert announced the four teams for the Kramer Cup semifinals to be played in Barcelona, Spain, Oct. 12-16:

Australia — Lew Hoad, Ken Rosewall, Ashley Cooper and Mal Anderson.

Europe — Mike Davies, Britain; Andres Gimeno, Spain; Kurt Nielsen, Denmark; and Robert Haillet, France.

North America — Gonzales, Earl Buchholz, Barry MacKay and Trabert.

South America — Pancho Segura, Ecuador; Alex Olmedo, Peru; and Luis Ayala, Chile.

Rush for World Series Tickets on in Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — The rush to write out money orders to go for World Series tickets began here Friday.

More than 9,000 letters of application were forwarded to the Cincinnati Reds by the main post office which had agreed to hold lobby, waving their letters and talking excitedly about the first World Series here since 1940. Cincinnati police finished making plans for the big event.

Extra patrolmen will be assigned to Crosley Field, Fountain Square and other key points to cope with the celebrations expected when the Reds clinch the National League pennant. This could happen during the three-game home stand with the San Francisco Giants this weekend.

Elliott Far From Glum Despite Lack of Depth

Illinois Has Only 11 Returning Lettermen; Opens Against Washington

BY JERRY LISKA

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—"We're loyal to you, Illinois!" may be more a challenge to Illini partisans than merely the opening line of the school's football song this fall.

Coach Pete Elliott, starting his second Illini season, has only 11 returning lettermen. At the moment, Mel Romani, a converted end now playing quarterback is the only letterman among the first three backfields.

It generally is conceded that Illinois with its least experienced squad since World War II will beat out only Indiana in the Big Ten race.

And it is difficult, at this reading, to guess where an Illinois victory may come against seven conference foes including Northwestern, Minnesota, Purdue, Michigan, Ohio State, Wisconsin and Michigan State.

Play Washington

Illinois opens Sept. 30 here against Rose Bowl champion Washington and plays its other non-conference game at Southern California Oct. 28.

Through one misfortune, or another—including classroom failures, disciplinary measures and injuries—Elliott has lost a dozen players who might have been prime 1961 candidates. Gone are such key performers as quarterback Mel Meyers, end Ed O'Brady, place kicker Jerry Wood, and halfbacks Norm Willis and Jim Warren.

However, Elliott is far from glum and, as a morale booster, he has installed offensive and defensive units.

"We think it will help squad spirit to get 22 men into the game instead of concentrating on 11," said Elliott.

"We're naturally concerned about our lack of experience, but the squad returned this fall in better physical condition than we expected. I think we have a certain amount of ability. I don't know if we can win games, but I hope we won't be a bad football team."

"Take Charge" Man

Elliott is looking for a "take-charge" man at quarterback among Romani, a senior; junior Mike Taliaferro; sophomore Ron Fearn; and senior Paul Golaszewski, son-in-law of Lou Boudreau, former major league baseball star and Illini athlete.

Taliaferro, the best passer, has the offensive edge, while Romani and Fearn excel on defense.

Elliott's offensive unit, averaging 199 pounds, will include at least four sophomores—halfbacks Tom McCullum and Al Wheatland, fullback Mike Summers, and guard Neal Anderson. Other starters will be Gary Hembrough and Thurman Walker or Dick Newell at ends; Frank Lollino at guard; Gary Brown and Pat Murphy at tackles; and Stan Yukevich or Denny Gould at center.

Defensive Club

The defensive club will average 201 pounds, hitting about 216 from end to end. Best sophomore defensive bets are Dick Deller at guard, Bill Pasko at end, Cecil Young at halfback and Bob Cravens, a 236 pounder, at tackle.

Key defensive veterans are guard Tony Parrilli, 228, perhaps top Illinoian candidate for All-Big Ten laurels, and center John Kruze, a fine linebacker.

"Our squad has good desire," said Elliott. "It's entirely possible that we'll pull some surprises."

four unearned runs in the ninth on a pair of errors that let two runs in and Bill Mazeroski's two-run homer. Roberto Clemente, the Pirates' league batting leader, upped his average to .355 with a 2-for-4 performance while reliever Clem Labine won his fourth against one defeat. Frank Sullivan (3-16) lost it.

For Fun With Sweet Clover, Try Drying It in the Attic

BY CAPPY DICK

Sweet clover, which grows along the same way but, of course, is many country roads, has a pleasant smell much smaller than the cushion and odor that is fun to preserve for and thinner material may be making sweet-smelling clover used. The completed sachet should sachets next winter. It may even be only two or three inches be used to stuff a small cushion square.

Other things than red clover may be preserved for stuffing. Dried geranium leaves and mint leaves are examples. However, clover blossoms make a fairly soft cushion and therefore are especially recommended for this fun-project.

Bow Hunters Can Register Their Deer

Outagamie County Conservation Warden Chuck Wransky has set up three registration stations for bow hunters who kill a deer.

Successful hunters may register their kills with Elmer Baumgarten, Peters Road, Kaukauna, (PL 7-5596); Ralph Kleist, route 2, Seymour 307-J-1; and Wransky, route 1, Hortonville, (PL 7-5596).

Each deer killed must be registered within 24 hours. Wransky warned, however, when a successful hunter intends to register a kill at one of the three stations, he should call ahead for an appointment.

The deer bow season opened Saturday.

'61-2 Small Game Hunting Season Will Open Oct. 1

Partridge, Sharp-Tails, Rabbits, Squirrels Become Legal Targets In Various Parts of Wisconsin

The 1961-62 Wisconsin small game hunting season gets under way next Sunday with a half-dozen or more species of birds and animals becoming legal targets for state gunners.

Opening in various parts of the state will be gun seasons on partridge, sharp-tailed grouse, gray and fox squirrels, Huns, rabbits and raccoon.

The maps which appear elsewhere on this page show how the state has been sliced into sections to take care of the various openings.

These maps, with their highway boundaries, should be studied closely before taking to the field next week. You can violate the law simply by hunting on the wrong side of the road.

Bow Hunting
If you are a bow hunter with an inclination for working the famed deer swamps around Necedah or elsewhere, you've probably already gotten your feet wet insofar as hunting is concerned since the bow season for deer opened Saturday.

Also open now is the bow season for bear but the area is restricted to that part of Wisconsin north of Highway 29 and west of the Fox River.

The Necedah Wildlife Refuge is perhaps the most popular area for bow hunting in the state. Archers took 1,091 deer in Wisconsin last year and 1,320 in 1959. This season's game farms, and the sea-so is now in full swing. Commercial shooting preserves in the state will open in October.

Leading Counties
Biggest news this season is the variety and distribution of the fee-hunting areas. A total of 25 game farms and preserves are open to the public this season.

The small game seasons are complicated in a way, since various highways are used as boundary lines. In Waupaca County, for instance, Highway 22 is the boundary for rabbits, squirrels and locations in northeastern, central and southern Wisconsin will make this hunting more convenient for Sunday, while remaining areas are closed until Oct. 21. The high-farms still feature pheasant hunting, but flighted mallards, quail and chukars are offered by many more areas than in the past.

Place to Hunt
While preserve and game-farm hunting has a special attraction through Nov. 12, the bag limit for city hunters who are looking for a place to hunt, and for sportsmen who cannot travel great distances to hunt, the early season opening has advantages for all gunners. It provides hunters a good opportunity to sharpen their shooting eyes, and get their dogs in top form before the regular statewide season opens.

Possession Limits
The bag and possession limits for other species include: Ruffed grouse (partridge), 3 and 6; sharp-tails, 3 and 6; gray and fox squirrels, 3 and 10; cottontail rabbits, 3 and 6.

There are no major changes in hunting regulations this year but about this type of hunting, is fully the white folder containing Wisconsin Game Preserve Association, 4065 No. 35th St., Milwaukee 16, Wis.; or: Recreational Pub-licated out with each hunting li-ense. If you have further ques-tions, contact a conversation war-den.

Small game hunting hours are one-half hour before sunrise to sunset. The only exception is for raccoon which may be hunted at any hour. Both Barrels will begin its Sunday career next week and at the risk of sounding like a promotion campaign, we want to say that we think you will observe some changes in these pages of the Post-Crescent set aside to carry outdoor news. For one thing, we plan to emphasize on-the-spot coverage of happenings in the outdoor field.

That means Both Barrels will cover major hunting and fishing openings everywhere in the state whenever possible. It also means the Post-Crescent will carry continuing stories both daily and Sunday detailing conditions in the field. From now through November there will be a series of "openings" when hunters all across Wisconsin will take to the woods and swamps for ducks, deer, pheasants, rabbits, squirrels, etc.

—oOo—

Both Barrels will be there too. We will report on general hunting prospects, conditions as they exist when we are there, where to go, what to wear, available accommodations, equipment needed and what a man might reasonably expect to spend for a couple of days of shooting. (Editor please note: As you can see from the last few words the trips I take afield to hunt and fish are, indeed, working sorties and are not to be confused with "junks." as we have come to recognize them.)

—oOo—

We'll leave the rest up to the promotion department but seriously, we think you will like what we have planned for the outdoor page. You'd better like it for if you don't Both Barrels may have to look for a new line of work.

In case you've never figured it out, this year's Wisconsin Sportsmen's License is a good buy at ten bucks. If you purchased all of the licenses separately you'd pay $15. The Sportsmen's license gives you these individual permits: Big game, $5; small game, $4; fishing, $3; and trapping, $3. Even if you don't trap, and few people do these days, you still save $2 if you fish and hunt small and big game.

The official drawing to select successful applicants for the Horicon goose hunt was held Friday so, if you had an application in, the die is cast. If they pulled your name out of the hat, or whatever it is they use for that little ceremony, you'll know by mail on or about the first of the month. Some people over in Marathon County last week raised an interesting question about the Horicon drawing. Is it, they wanted to know, a lottery? The attorney general's office responded with what you might consider the obvious answer that the Horicon drawing is not a lottery.

If they say it isn't a lottery, I suppose, it isn't. All I know is that I've had lousy luck in the drawing and so have a lot of other people. If it hadn't been for some friends of mine, notably Ralph Raiche, a Horicon honker would have been about as easy for me to get as a Kodiak bear.

Special note to Bill and Joyce Bruchl, Bill and Connie Gendron, and Leo and Bea Muraski, old friends of the Brunette and Both Barrels from our days in the S. Adams Street neighborhood. Just as soon as time and an extremely heavy work schedule permits, we'll be over to see all of you. We missed Connie and Bill up north the other day by just an eyelash. The Bruchls are well acquainted with our habits. I expect as soon as Bill reads this he'll begin laying in a supply of Old Tiger Tanager.

He'd better.

Leonard Hartman, Ogdensburg, N. Y., displays his 67-pound, 15-ounce muskie taken from the St. Lawrence River on spinning tackle. Hartman claims the five-foot fish is the largest ever taken on 11-pound test spinning line. The muskie is the largest fish reported from fresh water in the U. S. this year.

Hard to Prove a 20-Gauge's Enough

BY JAY REED
Post-Crescent Outdoor Editor

You've heard it said and I have, too: "A 20's plenty!"

We're speaking, of course, about a 20-gauge shotgun and, although I've used one of these little scatterguns almost exclusively in the field for the past two hunting seasons, I'm not at all sure it is, as some say, plenty.

My 20 is an auto-loader with a modified choke and a vented rib barrel. And it's got some good points. I do a lot of partridge hunting in heavy cover and I can carry my 20 in one hand, just like a pistol, using the other hand to ward off brush and branches. The gun is so lightweight you can carry it all day in this manner. You are always ready to shoot quickly and this, as any partridge hunter knows, is a must if you are going to bring home some birds. The 20 "points" easily, has perfect balance and is, generally, a joy to shoot.

There is one hitch. I have trouble hitting consistently.

This, of course, is not the fault of the gun. I have yet to win any prizes for shooting but this is the case with most gunners. The fact of the matter is that the average man who goes hunting in the fall is not an expert shoot with a scattergun, rifle or anything else.

The point I make is this: Mr. Average Shooter might purchase a 20 because the weapon is light, easy to handle and has little recoil. He will have read the gun's range is equal to that of larger bores. He may honestly believe that for him the 20 is plenty.

Better Than Average

From my own experience, I would say a man must be a better than average hand with a scattergun to obtain maximum results from a 20-gauge.

I've fired my 20 more times than I care to remember on the trap range and under actual hunting conditions. I've had better results, actually, with live birds than the clay ones although I've committed some monumental shooting "goofs" in the field.

Typical of this was one day last October when I was hunting pheasants with former Post-Crescent writer Dave Duffey, Clintonville. Duffey's Springer bitch "Flint" drove a ringneck crazy and finally kicked the bird out almost at my feet. I let the bird move out, drew a bead with the 20 and fired. Only trouble was I pulled three times on that rooster and didn't draw a feather. Why? You tell me. Tell Duffey, too, because he's still laughing.

Missed 9 in Row

About a year ago I was on the Outagamie County Conservation Club's trap range with L. A. Lawrence, Appleton. I shot a string of 25 with the little gun and, at one point, missed nine consecutive birds. In the next round, with my double barrel 12-gauge, I broke 19 out of 25.

The obvious explanation, it seems to me, is that the man who is not a better than average marksman simply is not capable of shooting "fine" enough to make the 20, with its reduced shot load, pay off. He would, it appears, be better off with a larger bore.

Fine Weapon

All of this is not intended to suggest that I'm going to get rid of my 20. Nor is it intended to imply that the 20-gauge is not a fine weapon.

Actually, I like my 20. It's faults are largely my faults and, perhaps, these can be corrected with increasing practice. As a slug gun, it's as fine a weapon as I've ever shot. At ranges up to 70-75 yards, it will toss a slug with all the accuracy of a rifle.

But to say that "a 20's plenty" — well, you can't prove it by me.

What do you think?

9 Winnebago Hospital Aides Give State Aid to Go Own Time for Group Therapy To City School

Group Receives Diplomas Friday; Doctor Says Personnel Make Hospital

WINNEBAGO — A diploma giving everyone interested in the subject. Each patient has much to offer.

4 Learning the other fellow's work and skills. This can be very informative.

5. When one of the group takes the trouble to talk about his experiences, he has shared part of himself and appreciation of this will be shown.

At this time 54 aides have volunteered for and been trained in the technique. Twenty-seven are active, holding one or two sessions a week made up of 10 to 15 patients. The aides prepare their sessions on their own time at home.

Those receiving diplomas Friday were Robert Focoy, Jamil Roggow, Wesley Baldy, Wayne Anderson, Ted Kempinger, Mrs. Velma Strupp, Mrs. Reba Stockinger, Miss Margaret Keeber and Miss Jean Ayers.

The most important requisite for the course in remotivation is to be a "kind human being," O'Reilly said.

KVS to Offer Writing Course

KAUKAUNA — A course in technical report writing will be given at the Kaukauna School of Vocational and Adult Education beginning Oct. 11, according to Dominic Bordini, director.

The course is designed for people engaged in writing technical reports on their jobs. It is being offered in cooperation with the Fox Valley Center of the University of Wisconsin and will be taught by George R. Sell, assistant professor of mechanical engineering at the University of Wisconsin.

Eight 2-hour sessions are planned with the class meeting at 7 p.m. Wednesdays.

Secretarial Skills Workshop to Start At AVS Monday

One hundred thirty-four have registered for the secretarial skills workshop, sponsored jointly by the National Secretaries Association International and the Appleton Vocational and Adult School. It will start Monday at the vocational school. Evening classes are filled, but there are a few openings in daytime classes.

The workshop will offer a comprehensive course in typing skills, handling of typewriters, letters, and various shortcuts, taught by Miss Lois Payne from the Chicago IBM office. It is open to anyone who can type.

The workshop is set up in six three-hour sessions, each running on two consecutive days. The sessions will be on Monday and Tuesday nights and on Wednesday and Thursday nights from 7 to 8:30 p.m., on Monday and Tuesday afternoons and on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons from 10 to 11:30 a.m. Registrations will be accepted up to the day of the class. Anyone interested should contact Mrs. Mary Lyons at the First National Bank.

Vocational School to Receive $25 a Pupil For Driver Training

The Appleton Vocational School will be eligible for state aid for its driver education program, Director Carl Bertram said today. The school's course includes 14 hours in the classroom and a minimum of six hours behind the wheel.

A bill signed Thursday by Gov. Gaylord Nelson made state aid totaling $1 million a year available to local driver education programs. The aid will be distributed to local schools and vocational training centers at the rate of $25 for each pupil who successfully completes an accredited course in driver education.

Financing will come from across-the-board boosts in automobile driver license fees. Effective Nov. 1 instruction per person fees are raised 50 cents to $1.50 and new operators' licenses will cost $2.50 instead of $2, and license renewals are boosted from $1 to $2.

Bertram said that 235 students completed the course at the vocational school this summer, which would have meant $5,875 in state aid if the law had been in effect at that time.

Appleton High School would be eligible for the aid, Bertram said, if it added behind the wheel instruction to its classroom course.

Camera Stolen

OSHKOSH — A $350 camera was reported stolen to the Oshkosh city police Friday night by Bruce Plashko, route 2, Oshkosh. He told police he had left the camera lying in the front seat of his car, which was parked on Alameda Boulevard in front of Alameda Hall at Oshkosh State College about 8:30 p.m. He said that when he returned around midnight the camera was gone. ## Winnebago 41 May Reopen in Month

Paving Nearly Finished, but Other Jobs Remain to be Done

OSHKOSH — The extra two-engineer for the state highway department said Friday.

He noted there are quite a few things remaining to be done even though it may appear that the paving is about complete. With good weather, the road should be opened to travel toward the latter part of October.

Crews Friday were paving the two-lane section for northbound traffic just east of the overhead for U.S. 45. Paving still remains to be done on a short strip just south of Cecil Street at Neenah.

Crushed stone shoulders have to be added and compacted for the construction and maintenance, including that for County Trunk GG and at the Dixie Road curve, Empey said.

The access roads in the areas near the Bergstrom Paper Co. and the Valley Airways section are being prepared now and must be blacktopped. Empey pointed out the season for blacktopping is nearing an end and that is the best that all blacktopping be completed by Oct. 15.

During the colder weather, it takes more days for the concrete to "cure" before it can be opened for traffic and this, too, could delay the opening of the extra two lanes.

'Hydropic' Pulping Process Not New, Institute Men Say

Claims Made by Inventor Friday Grossly Misleading, Experts Say

Authorities at the Institute of keeping streams clear. The pro-Paper Chemistry said Friday access requires only 500 gallons of ternoan that the "hydropic" pulp-water for each ton of pulp, coming process announced to the pared with 50,000 gallons for some press by Dr. Ralph H. McKee. Friday morning has been around existing methods he said.

"Hydropic" pulping involves the use of a certain class of organic compounds in contrast to inorganic compounds which are employed in conventional pulping processes.

Generally speaking, according to the Institute authorities, organic compounds are more expensive than inorganic compounds used by McKee in the pulping process, and although the organic compounds required in subsequent processing operations, therefore, the comparison of 500 gallons with 50,000 gallons which is made in the news release is grossly misleading.

McKee said a modification of his process permits a diluted chemical to be used and reused.

Public Statement Ends All Rumors on How He Came Out in Feud With Governor

BY JOHN WYNGAARD Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The extraordinary difficulties of the Wisconsin Democratic party in identifying its leadership showed a new phase today as Chairman Patrick J. Lucey on the party organization published a formal declaration that he regarded Gov. Nelson as the top man.

"The governor of the state is the head of his party," said Lucey in a prepared release, "and the state's chairman's role is to carry out the policy decisions of the governor."

The unusual statement followed a series of unprecedented developments during the last three weeks featuring a public quarrel between Nelson and Lucey which ostensibly ended with an abortive attempt by the governor to defeat Lucey for reelection as party committee leader.

When Assemblyman Frank Nikolay of Clark county, the governor's choice for the party machine command, was forced to retire with his call-up for active military service, Nelson and Lucey arranged for a peace settlement followed by a public statement that related they had settled all their differences.

Nelson Annoyed

But the statement was vague on what those differences were and what the terms of the settlement might have been, with the result that the news dispatches generally reported or implied that Lucey had come off the victor in the bout with the elected head of the state government. That annoyed Nelson, and the flat almost abject acknowledgement of his subordinate status by Lucey last night was the apparent result.

Lucey, who is likely to be re-elected at the Eau Claire convention next month without opposition, left nothing in doubt in his public release.

He praised the leadership of the governor in handsome terms, and then elaborated:

"As state chairman, it is my job to do everything in my power to carry out the policy decisions of the governor. It is my job to unite all Wisconsin Democrats behind our governor, his policies, and his programs. It is my job to assure that all Wisconsin citizens are fully aware of the outstanding programs and accomplishments of Gov. Nelson."

"If these jobs are done, as I am sure we can do them together, I have no doubt but that Wisconsin Democrats will achieve a ringing victory in the 1962 elections."

In his acknowledgement of his responsibilities and the superior rights of the governor as policymaker for the state party, Lucey betrayed more of the reasons for the quarrel with the state ticket leader than had previously been made known.

Don't Forget To Set Clocks Back an Hour

Tonight's the night you get back that extra hour of sleep you lost last spring.

Daylight saving time officially ends at 2 a.m. Sunday. It then becomes 1 a.m., central standard time.

You'll enjoy that extra sleep more if you set your clock back an hour before you go to bed.

Some people won't be so lucky. Some workers, for instance, will work nine hours instead of eight if the time change comes during their shift.

Staff Disatisfied

The executive office staff of Nelson has been known to be dissatisfied with what they have regarded as an indifferent campaign and publicity effort within the party organization and its party newspaper on behalf of the governor's program and objectives in his difficult relations with a decisively led Republican legislature.

Some local party units, according to such complaints, have been only vaguely aware of some of the important details of Nelson's program, because of the lack of energy in promotion at party headquarters.

But such difficulties are now ended, according to Lucey's public pledge.

"His vigorous leadership has made Wisconsin the leader among the states, in government reorganization, conservation, student loans, mental health and a dozen other fields," the Lucey press release said loyally.

Engineer Will Talk on Future Appleton Growth

George A. Howden, division commercial engineer for the Wisconsin Telephone Co., will speak Sunday through Wednesday, at city expense.

Scheduled to attend are Mayor Clarence Mitchell, City Clerk Elmer Bruehm, City Atty. Don Juv, Director of Public Works Edwin Duszynski and three aldermen, on Planning for Appleton's Future when he addresses the Northside Kiwanis Club Tuesday night.

Howden will try to predict the probable growth of Appleton both residentially and industrially, by address at 10:45 a.m. Monday.

James Webb, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, will be the dinner speaker.

Rex M. Whitton, federal highway administrator, will be a luncheon speaker.

Workshop topics include water supply, sewage disposal, street construction and maintenance, how it is possible to predict quite accurately what the coming years will hold, both for the telephone company and for the community generally.

Youth Pays $50 for Speeding, Language

William F. Ellenbecker, 22, 26 Garden Court, admitted to Municipal Judge Gustave J. Keller Friday that he drove 60 miles an hour on W. Wisconsin Avenue Wednesday.

Police said that when arrested, Ellenbecker laughed at the officer and used abusive language. Judge Keller asked him what he would do if someone said similar things to him.

"I guess I'd punch 'em," he replied.

Ellenbecker was fined $50 for speeding.

Chilton Youth Hurt When Car Strikes Pole

CHILTON — Glenn Luchterhand, 17, route 1, Chilton, suffered severe leg injuries when the car in which he was riding hit a telephone pole after leaving the County Trunk E one mile east of State 57 at 12:30 a.m. today.

Luchterhand was a passenger in a car driven by Alan R. Kopf, 17, route 4, Chilton, who told county police he fell asleep. Kopf car traveled about 390 feet in the right ditch; hit the utility pole, then veered across a road and overturned in the left ditch, skidding a total of about 450 feet in all. Luchterhand is being treated at Calumet Memorial Hospital in Chilton. Kopf escaped unhurt.

A National Guard truck, assigned to the 127th infantry, Appleton, is prepared for the unit's activation at the motor pool depot in Oshkosh. Working on the vehicle are M. Sgt. L. H. Dickman, 33, 1200 Ceape Ave., Oshkosh, shop chief, and Sgt. James Clausung, 24, route 4, Oshkosh. Both are civilian employees of the army in addition to holding their rank in the National Guard.

Receiving Diplomas From Dr. Charles H. Belcher, Superintendent of Winnebago State Hospital, are, from left, Jamil Roggow, Omro, Robert Frey and Jean Ayers, both of Oshkosh. The aides volunteered for extra work in remotivation of patients, given by James O'Reilly, right, aide instructor. The volunteers are regular hospital aides who will receive no extra pay for this work.

Young East Germans Told of 'Protection'

BERLIN (AP)—A school teacher is making for world peace," a teacher stood with her class in the young Communist explained. The eerie darkness of East Berlin's Stadtmittel subway station. Two Communist sentries with the trains at that point. A triple submachine guns listened with faint smiles as the teacher explained why the station was checked to passengers. The visit was part of the Communist education program. Groups of children are frequently seen inspecting the Eastern side of the concrete-and-barbed-wire barrier the Reds have built across Berlin.

"Protection" Against West At the Friedrichstrasse border post, a teacher was heard to tell her class of 6 and 7-year-olds: "This is how our government protects us against the warmongers and revanchists (vengeance seekers) temporarily entrenched in West Berlin."

The children admitted to the deserted Stadtmittel station were receiving a similar lesson. The aim is to produce a generation of Germans to whom all this will seem like logic. The concrete curtain, they are told, is not there to stop people escaping from the East but to stop spies and saboteurs infiltrating from the West.

Subway Barred The barrier zigzagging through Berlin cuts across the subway at several points. Until last month, people could travel freely between the two parts of the city. When the curtain went down the subway escape route was barred too.

Stadtmittel, like many East Berlin subway stations, is closed because the trains run into West Berlin. The Communist measures have paralyzed a good part of the city transit system of downtown East Berlin. The regime has put in some additional bus services to compensate for the subway.

Police Hold Fond du Lac Youth After Chase OSHKOSH — A 21-year old Fond du Lac man was arrested by Winnebago County police at 2:30 a.m. today after a chase on U.S. 45 at speeds up to 110 miles an hour, according to the police report.

Kaiser is being held in the county jail.

Khrushchev and Kennedy is not just another war as history describes wars, but a wholly new order of violence.

Red China Pushes Study of English In High Schools HONG KONG (AP) — English is becoming one of the most important foreign languages in Red China.

A nationwide campaign to arouse students' interest in learning English and to improve the Soviet existing teaching methods has been launched by the Chinese Communist government.

Radio stations are offering English lessons to listeners. Many English teachers, prior to which, it may well be, he will be remembered the longest. It says, are over-enthusiastic.

A survey conducted by the Kwei-yang Middle School in re- about the hydrogen bomb which caused President Eisenhower to say that there is no longer any "alternative to peace."

Changing Concepts Modern weapons have revolutionized the nature of war by introducing into it a new order of violence. Always until now, war and the threat of war, whether aggressive or defensive, were usable instruments for the national purpose. They were usable because wars could still be won or lost. In the pre-nuclear wars the victorious power was an organized state which could impose its will on the vanquished. The damage, though great, was not irreparable, as we know from the recovery after World War II of West Germany, Japan, and the Soviet Union. But from a full nuclear war, which might well mean a hundred million dead, the devastation of the great urban centers, and the contamination of the earth, the water, and the air, there would be no such recovery. The damage done would be mutual, there would be no victor, and for all practical purposes the ruin would be irreparable.

American nuclear power can reduce Soviet society to smoldering ruins and leave the wretched survivors shocked, starving, and diseased. The Soviet Union can, it is coolly estimated, kill between thirty and seventy million Americans. Such a war would not be followed by reconstruction. It would be followed by a savage struggle for existence as the survivors crawled out of their shelters, and the American republic would be replaced by a stringent military dictatorship trying to keep some kind of order among the desperate survivors.

It used to be said of the British naval commander in the First World War that if he made a mistake, he could lose the war in an afternoon. Khrushchev and Kennedy can do that now. In a few hours Khrushchev can lose the Soviet state and the achievements an the promises of the new armaments is equal and virtually absolute, neither of the two chiefs of government can threaten the other with such a war. As long as each has kept his own armory of weapons in order, neither can or need believe the nuclear threats of the other.

In cold blood no government can, no government will, start a nuclear war with an equal nuclear power. Only a moral idiot would press the button. The poor dears among us who say that they have had enough and now let us drop the bomb have no idea what they are talking about. They have not been able to imagine and realize what a nuclear war would be like.

"Lunacy" Nevertheless, though a nuclear war would be lunacy and is unlikely, it is an ever-present possibility. Why? Because, however irrational it may be to commit suicide, a nation can be provoked and exasperated to a point where its nervous system cannot endure inaction, where only violence can relieve its feelings.

This is one of the facts of life in the middle of the twentieth century. It is as much a reality as a megaton bomb, and in the nuclear age it must be given weighty consideration in the calculation of policy. There is a line of intolerable provocation beyond which the reactions are uncontrollable. The governments must know where that line is and they must stay well back of it.

Both sides are capable of miscalculating where that line is. Khrushchev, who has no sufficient experience of a state whose speech is free, is prone to think that Kennedy can and should control an explosion of popular feeling. The fact is that there is a limit to President Kennedy's abili- to lead public opinion, and Negro, Sir Richard Burton, an English author visiting Brazil at that time, wrote that "the Brazilian attitude toward people who have African blood is one of large tolerance," and that "anyone who escapes being an evident Negro is considered white."

This being the nuclear age, it is the paramount rule of international politics that a great nuclear power must not put another great nuclear power in a position where it must choose between suicide and surrender. And the corollary of this rule is that no great nuclear power must put itself in a position where it has made such absolute and such rigid stipulations that it can no longer negotiate an honorable and by a radio car during the day tolerable accommodation, and patrolled by foot at night.

Brazilians Allow Races to Mix Freely

Brazil More Free Of Racial Bias Than Any Other Country

BY MICHAEL SIENIAWSKI

SAO PAULO, Brazil—Probably more than any other country, Brazil is free of racial bias.

Individuals of practically every shade of color mix freely and without any apparent consciousness of the existence of any racial differences among them.

This applies to all social levels, be it professions, business, clergy, or armed forces. And this is just as true of the big cities as it is of the small communities in the interior.

Net Overnight Brazil did not achieve this freedom from racial problems overnight. Racial tolerance has never been imposed by artificial means. It has been a natural and gradual process dating back to the early days of Brazil's settlement by the Portuguese in the 16th century.

In order to understand it, it is necessary to take a quick look into the country's history and examine briefly a few fundamental traits of the Portuguese who have always formed the core of Brazil's population.

The Portuguese has been historically freer of any racial prejudices than most of his European brethren. The first Portuguese who arrived in Brazil, usually single men or unaccompanied by wives, lived freely with native Indian women and later on with imported black slaves.

According to Gilberto Freyre, the leading Brazilian sociologist, polygamy, a trait acquired by the Portuguese from the Moors during their long occupation of the Iberian Peninsula, predominated over the European or Christian concept of sexual morality.

It was almost a natural development in a migratory frontier society where white women were a rarity.

Proud of Offspring Moreover, the Portuguese were proud of their mixed offspring and usually provided them with the best possible education. Family pride was much stronger than racial pride.

They were aided in their process of intermixture by the fact most of the Indians they conquered were of good physical appearance, while the majority of the imported African slaves came from Sudan, then the area of the most advanced Negro culture.

Beautiful Negroes became the famous mistresses of many important men of those days. Their children often married into prominent white families.

By the time the independence of Brazil from Portugal was proclaimed in 1822 under Emperor Pedro I, many men of mixed blood had attained position of importance in all walks of life. This was a country whose population at that time was nearly half white.

Mr. English author visiting Brazil at that time, wrote that "the Brazilian attitude toward people who have African blood is one of large tolerance," and that "anyone who escapes being an evident Negro is considered white."

Blockade of the access routes is such a line for this country. For the Soviet Union such a line would be the giving of nuclear arms to West Germany.

This being the nuclear age, it is the paramount rule of international politics that a great nuclear power must not put another great nuclear power in a position where it must choose between suicide and surrender. And the corollary of this rule is that no great nuclear power must put itself in a position where it has made such absolute and such rigid stipulations that it can no longer negotiate an honorable and by a radio car during the day tolerable accommodation, and patrolled by foot at night.

State Department Experiments With Compact Limousines

More Economical, Easier to Service in Foreign Countries

WASHINGTON (AP) — Block-long limousines may be on the way out for U.S. diplomats abroad.

If a State Department experiment works out, the ambassador of the future will ride in a compact limousine that is more economical and with parts more easily obtained in strange corners of the world.

There's another advantage, too. He'll be able to get in and out of them without removing his top hat.

From the outside, the new-looking limousine resembles a cab painted black. It is in fact a medium-size sedan produced by the Checker Motors Corp., a builder of taxicabs.

Comfortable Interior
On the inside, the car features such extras as gray broadcloth upholstery, air conditioning and a glass partition so the passengers' talk won't be overheard by the driver.

Word of the experiment was carried in the latest issue of the State Department's "News Letter," a monthly magazine. It indicated the U.S. ambassador to the Soviet Union, Llewellyn Thompson, himself suggested the change.

Maintenance Problem
One of the compacts has just been shipped to Moscow. A second will be bought for San Salvador. The department wants to see how these work out before purchasing more.

Thompson complained about troubles in keeping up his passenger cars in Moscow—"one expensive make in particular," the news-letter said.

The emissary to the Soviet Union said the cobblestones and rough roads in the Soviet Union beat up his American cars too much and he had difficulty getting high octane gasoline. He suggested too that a smaller vehicle would be less ostentatious.

Thompson reported that Mrs. Nelson A. Rockefeller, wife of New York's Republican governor, had wanted a car "in which she could sit upright" and had bought one of the new mediumweight sedans.

Favorable Aspects
Acting on this hint, State Department purchasers went ahead to buy the first two models. They put two utility jump seats in the cars and are thinking of other improvements in later models.

The department buyers cited these favorable features:
1. A $3,800 price, well below the outlay for some full-size limousines.
2. A six-cylinder engine with standard transmission and generally rugged construction with parts more easily obtainable abroad than for more complicated machines.

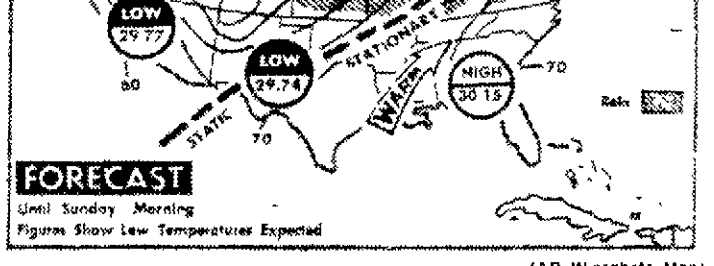

3. A roof high enough to allow riders to get in and out easily.

How can a guy be dependable And do what he knows he should, When people can't make up their minds? Good grief! How I wish they would!

Aviation Group Plans Runway Improvements

NEW LONDON — Members of the New London Aviation Inc. voted Thursday night to improve the east-west runway at the club's airport east of the city.

To improve drainage the 2640 foot runway will be ditched and graded, so that surface water can drain following a rain.

Named to the committee to head the improvement project were George Else, chairman, Floyd Granger and Lloyd Schieser. A board of directors meeting will be held to approve the final plans of the project before work starts.

At a board of directors meeting following the regular meeting, George Else was granted permission to construct a second airplane hangar.

Bus Driver Takes Things Into His Own Hands for Action

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (AP) — A group of high school students has learned early in the school year that driver Clarence Dube is a man who likes peace and quiet on his city bus.

The irate Dube made his point clear recently when he drove 65 unruly teen-agers and three women passengers off his regular route on an unscheduled non stop run from Waukegan high school's west campus to the downtown police headquarters.

"I've had enough swearing, ob-senities and firecrackers from the high school crowd," Dube told juvenile officers.

Delinquency charges were placed against two 14-year-olds and a 17-year-old was charged with disorderly conduct.

The other teen-agers were sent home.

Arms Buildup Will Cost U.S. Great Deal

Treasury Department Will Have Problems Getting Ample Funds

BY SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP) — More arms will cost money. And just now Uncle Sam has some delicate problems in raising it.
The neat trick, if the Treasury can swing it, is to borrow several billion dollars in new cash without sending interest rates discouragingly high on funds business will need for expansion.
It also must try to meet the federal deficit which the arms buildup will swell without putting too much money into the economy in a form that could trigger another shot of monetary inflation. One such form would be too easy bank credit.

Governments Ask Most Loans
So far this year the federal government and more particularly governments at the state and municipal levels have added most to the demand for more loans.
Consumers, home builders and corporations have been notably shy about putting pressure on the money market. Even the sharp recovery at the industrial level hasn't quickened the demand for bank loans significantly.

This moderate total demand for new financing was one of the reasons the Treasury in July could offer $16.6 billion securities in exchanges and new financing without disturbing the market. The big transaction had little effect on interest rates. The supply of lendable funds for industry and trade remained ample.

Looks for Change
Bigger demand for money and a slow rise in interest rates is predicted by Dr. Marcus Nadler, consulting economist to the Hanover Bank of New York.

He looks for the volume of industrial and commercial loans, lagging so far during the recovery, to be lifted as business activity expands and inventories are rebuilt. He thinks consumer credit also will increase.

The economist predicts the growing Treasury deficit will be financed primarily through the sale of short-term securities.

Mortgage Demand Rise
And he thinks more homes will be built and the demand for mortgages will rise. He also expects increased public construction and other state and local government spending will mean more borrowing, and hence more tax exempt securities on the market.

The bank economist stresses that the rise in interest rates will be slow.
Economists at the New York Federal Reserve Bank are cautious in estimating the impact of the rising outlay for defense on the money markets.

Not Immediate Upsurge
They note that with about $4 billion more voted for military spending "a strong expansionary influence" will be added to the economy. But then they add:

"With capacity still ample, deliveries prompt and prices relatively stable, the demands arising from the added spending need not by themselves cause a marked revision in business inventory policies or a marked expansion of facilities."

In other words, there won't necessarily be an immediate upsurge in the demand for loans. And hence the pressure on interest rates could be moderate.

The only immediate survivor is his wife, Margaret, to whom he had been married for 58 years. Funeral services will be Monday at 2 p.m. from the Wichmann Funeral Home with Rev. I. R. Kindem officiating. Interment will be in Riverside Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after 2 p.m. Sunday.
